TECHNICAL REPORT 1948-49

From 15th August 1947 To 31st March 1949

I. INTRODUCTION AND SUMMARY

- I Annual Reports —The publication of the two Annual Reports of the Survey of India namely, the General Report and the Geodetic Report was suspended in 1912 for the duration of the war The resumption of publication of these reports was made from the year 1947 in two separato volumes namely
 - (a) The General Report,
 - (b) The Technical Report

The General Report, is a brief narrative covering all work of the department and is intended for the information of the Government of India and non technical readers

The Technical Report which has superseded the Geodetic Report not only deals in detail with the geodetic and geophysical activities of the department, but also covers technicalities of survey work, drawing and map reproduction not included in the scope of the Geodetic Report

The Technical Report for 1947 covered the period from 1st October 1946 to 14th August 1947, after which date India was partitioned The present report covers the period from 15th August 1947 to 31st March 1949 and is the first report relating only to the Union of India Future reports will cover approximately the period of the financial year which begins on 1st April and ends on 31st March

The Technical Report is arranged as follows -

Part I contains Table C (previously published in the General Report) giving a detailed statement of areas, out turns and costrates of surveys. It also contains technical notes on topographical and other surveys, descriptions of country surveyed, notes as to weather, communication, availability of food and on other subjects likely to be of interest to surveyors. It may also have appendices describing new technical methods and equipment Part II deals with the technicalities of map drawing and reproduction and allied matters

Part III deals with geodetic and geophysical operations with special reference to the technical aspects of the work, and to an analysis of the results This part is being published as a separate volume this year

The report is self contained with indexes, charts, samples of finished work, photographs, illustrations, etc

A Supplement to the Technical Report containing some of the information previously published in the Technical Supplement to the General Report will continue to be prepared in typescript for departmental use

PART I -TOPOGRAPHICAL AND OTHER SURVEYS

II ABSTRACT OF TOPOGRAPHICAL WORK

2 In issues of the annual General Report of the Survey of India published before the World War II, the abstract of topographical work was explained by three Tables namely, Tables A. B and C

Table A showed the area of survey completed on various scales since 1905 as well as the approximate balance which remained to complete the contoured topographical survey of India

Table B showed the survey of the area revised during the period under review

Table C showed in detail the figures for areas surveyed, out turns and cost rates of survoys, compilation and mapping by the various survey parties of the department

Tables A and B will continue to be published in the General Report although they were omitted in the General Report, 1947

Table C 15, now published in the Technical Report

In Table C, although every endeavour has been made to cal culate the cost-rates accurately, it is extremely difficult to allocate overhead charges fairly to the various classes of work. The cost rates shown in the Table C must, therefore be considered to be approximate. The net cost represents the expenditure actually incurred on the work plus Party overhead charges, but excludes expenditure incurred on moving the party to the field and Depart mental overhead charges. The overall cost is the net cost plus the cost incurred on moving the party to the field. The information contained in this Table is intended to be useful to those familiar with survey organization, in estimating costs in subsequent vears.

The cost shown for mapping and computation are those incurred in the party, etc, offices only, except where otherwise stated Publication charges, if required, may be ascertained from the Director, Map Publication, at Dehra Dun

Indexes A and C published in the General Report also appear at the end of the Technical Report The progress of modern (10, since 1905) topographical surveys made by the department and of compilations made from our own or other material is illustrated in Index A The surveys in hand in connection with the various irrigation and development projects are shown in Index C

Brief reports on the various survey operations curried out by the above mentioned units have been given in the General Report 1948-49. As the technical aspect of survey work is to be described in this report no reference is made here to the activities of parties employed on work of a purely routine nature.

No 1 PARTY

- 4 General—The party was employed wholly on paid for various rigation and urban do-elopment schemes. The methods adopted for planimetric and height control, and the scales and specifications of surveys for the different projects are briefly described below.
- 5 Plansmetric Control for Surveys -The existing triangula tion or traverse data was after checking on the ground, used if found accurate and a lequate for the survey in onestion. If found inadequate, it was supplied into the following ---

- (a) inangulation
- (b) travene
- (c) in areas of reserved ferests already surveyed on the 4 inch scale co-ordinates of sahent points identifiable on the photographs were accurately read from the forest maps and used.
- or (d) accurate plane table fixings and auxiliary points from existing triangulation data

Methods (c) and (d) saved a considerable amount of time and enabled the maps to be supplied at a low cost, within the specified time and with the accuracy increasing for the purpose for which thet were required viz. the working out of capacities of reservoirs, etc.

All control points were marked on the photographs in the field

6 Height Control for Surveys—Where possible heights were based upon spirit levelled heights otherwise the heights of the existing transplation were accepted. All height points were identified and marked in the field on the photographs, supplied to the field staff for this purpose. Heights of old trigonometrical intersected points, such as trees, were first relived from triangulation stations by theodolit. Most of such values had changed on account of the growth of trees etc., since the time of previous triangulation, and new values were used as the basis for fixing further height control.

Heights were observed in the field in the undermentioned ways -

(1) By Theodolite—From the existing trigonometrically heighted stations and points, additional heights were fixed, by theodolite, about a mile apart all over the area and particularly in the valleys. This ensured a reasonable density of accurate heights on which further control by clinometric heights was based for contiouring purposes

Theodolites were also used in the following ways to provide heights correct to 1 foot —

- (a) Vertical angles were observed to identifiable detail while distances were obtained from field charts or air survey sections or subtense bar measurements
- (b) Tachymetry
- (c) The theodolite used as a level to give differences in heights of points, the positions of which were identified and marked on the photographs

- (u) By Clinometer—Clinometric heights computed from rays over a mile long or from tangent readings over 0.2 were not accepted, as they were not considered to give heights of sufficient accuracy for survey of contours at 10 to 20 feet certical intervals
- (iii) By Paulin Barometers—This method was adopted in beds of streams and slopes covered with dense jungle where clinometer or theodolite observations were not possible without heavy clearing
 - A set of six b frometers was provided for each observer. A buttery of three was kept at the Base Station of known height and the other three were carried by the observer in the field. Barometer and thermometer readings at the Base Station were recorded every half hour. Similarly temperature, barometer and time readings were recorded by the observer, at places where spot heights were required. Corrections due to temperature and closing errors distributed proportion itely to time intervals, were applied to obtain the final heights of the places of observation. The field traverse included as many points of known height as possible.
- 7 Density and Accuracy of Control I've following table gives an indication of the density and accuracy of planimetric and height control obtained in the field —

| Scale of | Planimetr | ie control | Height | control |
|------------|-------------|------------|-------------|----------|
| air survey | Density | Accuracy | Density | Accuracy |
| | Yards apart | | Lards apart | |

8 Surveys with Brief Description of Country—(1) New Delhi Detelopment Survey—This survey on scale of 100 feet to 1 inch with contours at 5 foot interval was required by the Ministry of Works, Mines and Power Government of India of two areas, one to the north and other to the south of Delhi for town development purposes

A description of methods employed and of the country has already been published in Technical Report, 1947

(a) Rimoanga D on Site Survy - The Chief Engineer, P W D Project Circle, Lucknow, remared this survey on 10 inches to 1 mile scale with contours generally at 20 foot interval. In flat are as and eaddles contouring was at 10 foot interval. The survey covered an area of 11 square miles in Kila, arh forests. District Garhwal, and was required for fixing a suitable site on the spillway of the proposed Ramganga Dam

Photography carned out in 1945 for the preparation of a contoured photo mosaic of the Rimana reservoir area, was available Enlargements on 10 inches to 1 mile scale of this photography were used for compilation of the map by the radial line method

Planumetric control as well as height control was provided by methods described in paras 5 and 6 (1) (a) and (ii) respectively

The area consists of low hills covered with dense reserved forests with abundance of undergrowth and wild animals abound Hills are mostly composed of soft clay The heights of trees in the area vary from 30 feet to 100 feet with the result that the accuracy of contouring was doubtful

(m) Patiala State Development Survey -This survey, on a scale of 16 inches to 1 mile with contours at an interval of 20 feet, was required by the Chief Engineer, PWD, Patrila State, for developing colonies at Barog, Kundaghit and Chail

Planimetric control was provided by triangulation vide para o and height control vide paras 6 (1) (a) and (11)

Air survey by the radial line method, using the above control, was in hand

All the areas are surrounded by high hills covered with dense

pine and oak forests interspersed with open spaces

(1v) Rewa and Satna Town Surveys - The Prime Minister, Rewa State, required maps of Rewa and Satna towns on the scale of 16 inches to 1 mile with contours at 10 foot vertical intervals and spot-level heights 400 feet apart for planning town development and drainage schemes In the congested area, however, only spot-level heights 400 feet apart along roads were required

Level heights at intervals of 400 feet were fixed by running tertiary level lines The following procedure enabled four level heights to be fixed from each setting of level and saved a considerable amount of time

Firstly level lines were run from the existing bench marks in the form of a rectangle round the area of work fixing semi permanent bench marks about 1,200 feet apart Accepting the values of these bench marks, level lines were run at right ungles to the sides of the rectangle While running these lines, the leveller observed from each setting of the level not only to back and forward levelling staves, at distances of 200 feet from the level, but also to other levelling staves at 400 feet distance from the level at right angles

Air survey compilation was carried out from 16 inch enlarge ments of 8 inch photography by the radial line method. Gryprints of the outline sections were taken to the field and detail was verified on the ground and contouring at 10 feet was completed by using the clinopole method.

The area was mostly built up

Incorporation of verification corrections and contours was in hand

(v) Agra Central Railwaj Station Survey—The survey was on to scale of 32 inches to 1 mile with contours it 5 foot vertical intervals in open area and with levelled heights at 200 feet apart in the built up area. It was required by the Chief Engineer, G IP Railway for planning the construction of one Central Station in Agra common to the B B & C I the G I P and the E I Rail ways

Control was provided by it ivers. The ur survey compulation from 32 medic enlargements of the 14 med photography was carried out by the radial line method. Give prints of the outline sections were taken to the field for verification of the details ansurvey of contours at 5 foot interval. Contours were surveyed by the chropole method. Level heights were provided by running tertary fevel lines.

Incorporation of verification corrections and contours is in hand

The area for survey is partly built up and partly flat cultivated plain with a number of scattered mounds

- (v1) One unch Correction Survey —Four 1 inch sheets 53 H i 2, 5, 6, covering Delh City and its suburbs were corrected on the ground, as they were considerably out of date. Office copy corrections, communications and new colonies which had sprung up during the war, were verified and inserted on the ground with respect to recognizable detail on the 1 inch sheets. Cultivation limits and other minor detail was not rigorously checked. The surveyor was provided with a 15 cwt truck, and this enabled him to complete the correction survey of 995 square miles, within 2 months
- (vn) Cattle Breeding Research Station, Jubbulpore —The survey on 4 inch scale for an area of 5 square miles with confours at 5 foot Ministry of Agneul urried out by ground

(vin) East Punjab Capital Site Suriey—The Government of the East Punjab required the survey on 4 inch scale with contours at 5 foot vertical intervals in the flat area and 20 foot in the hilly area of an area of 413 square miles situated 8 miles west of Chandi garh Railway Station in Ambala district The area was selected by the East Punjab Government for its capital The work was initiated at the close of the field season 1947—48 and was allotted top priority by the Government of India so that fieldwork had to be done right through the summer and rains of 1944. This adversely affected the health of the personnel employed.

Planmetric control for the whole area and hight control for the hills are only as carried out in accordance with the methods described above in pairs 5 and 6 (n) respectively. The whole area was photographed in the scale of 4 inches to 1 indio and air survey compilation was carried out on this scale by the radial line method Grey prints of the outline sections were sent to the held for verification of detail and survey of contours at 5 foot interval in the flat area was carried out by the chimpole method. Contouring in hilly areas was carried out from the sur-photographs using the network of height control supplied by the field units. Names were collected in the field and these with heights and headings, etc., were pasted on the outline originals after incorporation of verification corrections. Separate contour originals were ure parted on bodatrice.

As soon as the survey of this was over, an additional demand for a survey of 1 squire miles in extension of the East Punjab Capital Site Survey was received from the East Punjab Government. This extension are was only partly covered by air photography. The area without photographic cover had to be surveyed by ground methods. The whole work was completed by the end of January 1949.

The northern portion of the area is hilly, the rest being level, gradually sloping to the south. It is crossed by several dry nalas known as Cho about half a mile wide. During the rains these flood causing damage to villages near their banks.

(ix) Bargi Dam Suriey —This suries for an area of 1 2 square miles on the scale of 32 inches to 1 mile with contours at 5 foot vortical intervals together with the Bargi Reservoir Suriey mentioned below, was required by the Central Waterpower, Irrigation and Navigation Commission for planning a dam site on the Narbada River near Bargi

Planimetric control was fixed by triangulation based upon Minter Short Base measurements and azimuth observations and connected to a GT Station Points were fixed every \(\frac{1}{2}\) mile apart with a probable accuracy of 1 foot in position Heights for contouring correct to \(^1\) foot were fixed every 50 yards apart, by tachy metry and levelling All points were identified and marked on photographs \(^1\) traverve was in hand One bench mark was constructed in the Dam Site area and its height fixed by levelling from a GT Bench mark. This was to serve as a datum for the engineers to run their own levelling later

(x) Barga Reservoir Survey —Photography was taken on the unch and enlarged to the 4 meh scale. It was used for air survey at this scale with contours at 20 foot vertical intervals up to the 1340 feet contour, and at 10 foot intervals between 1,340 to 1,370 feet. No contours were required above 1,370 feet. The area

surveyed for the reservoir is 173 square miles, extending over a length of 70 miles from Barga to Mandla

Planimetric and height control was provided by methods already described in parts 5 (a) and (d) and 6 (a), (m) and (m) respectively. The slotted template method was used for combination of photographs. Work was in haid.

The tree is hilly covered with furly dense jungle and has reserved forests of the Madhya Pradesh Government on both sides of the river. There is abundance of wild game. The area is madelyness.

- g Other Surveys —The following tasks were completed by the Technical Reports on them have dready appeared in the Technical Report, 1947 —

- 12 Type of Country —The country consists, as described in Technical Report 1947, of flat cultivated plans, interspersed with scrib, long grass and trees particularly around villages and tanks and along roads and canals. In the west and south it is open, sandy and undulating. This results in complete disappearance of a number of stones through their becoming submerged in the sand
- 13 Work —The survey work for this project has been fully described in paras 14 15 16 and 17 of Technical Report, 1947

Due to difficulties in obtaining a sufficient number of stones to mark the corners of 25 are r. et ungles the work was carried out to 100 acre rectangles only but Icvelling continued to be done up to 25 acre rectangles

This had the approval of the Γast Punjab Government with contours at 5 foot vertical intervals and 64 inch scale without contours (of Bāzār areas) were of a high standard of accuracy At 16 inch scale the accuracy aimed at was 5 links in position and on the 64 inch scale it was 1 link. Normal methods of fur mapping for publication in black and brown with red tint for buildings, were carried out.

(ii) For 16 (b), surveys were bised on theodolite framework spirit be clied heights and the jobs were mostly done on 16 mean and 24 inch scales with 1 foot contour intervals for enlargement to 1/2500 scale by photography. These jobs were required by the Air Force (Works) for the expansion scheme for airfields in all Commands.

As the maps were required urgently, the enlargements to 1/2,500 scale were done directly from the field plane table sections on 16 and 24 meh scales. Normal fair drawing and printing for these rush tabs were not carried out.

(m) One survey was done on the 8 mch to a mile scale

prints Normal fair drawing and printing were not done

18 Methods of Survey —In brief the normal method of detail survey for 16 (a) was traversing with a chain and offsets with optical squares between fixed points. Interpolations and intersections were allowed only in open areas. For 16 (b), interpolations and intersections were used and in addition the heights were provided at every five chain grid corners by levelling

20 Technical Methods—The general types of surveys carried out and the methods used were the same as those described in the Technical Report, 1947 Mention has been made in the party reports which follow of any additional types of surveys and modifications in methods levels printed in red. The positions of these "spot" levels are not recoverable on the ground and, as they are of value only to control the contouring, it has been decided that there is no point in printing the values on a special map

For the purpose of designing the layout of a canal system for rrigation purposes, in fairly flat country, some engineers have now accepted air photo mosaics with a mesh of level bench-marks marked on them. The bench mark values are provided on an "overlay" trace. If the foregoing will replace the contoured map for this type of engineering project, a great deal of survey potential will be saved.

A serious error in contouring of the air surveyed Konar Dam maps was discovered by the indentor A check disclosed other errors in the adjoining Konar Reservoir and Pipe Line maps. The discovery of the circles took place after most of the maps had been invited—about two years after the actual height control, in which the errors arose, was carried out. The circles were entirely due to an urgent job being undertaken by inexperienced surveyors and without adequate supervision, the lutter being the chief cause. A lot of time and survey potential have been wasted in the checking of all the adjoining work and rectifying the errors. This provides a very useful lesson which will be profited by in the future.

21 Miscellaneous—The out-turn of field parties, especially during the field season 1948-49 was much reduced owing to excess to delays in the rulway transportation of survey stores and equipment resulting in delays in commencing work. These delays were very marked in the case of new survey operations involving large shipments of personnel and stores which were undertaken at short notice just before the commencement of the field season.

24 Technical Methods —(a) Planimetric and Height Control was provided for the air survey of the following projects —

Barahakshetra Gorge falling in Sheet 72 N on 4 inch scale with 20 foot contours

Tikarpara Reservoir, falling in Sheet 73 D on 4 inch scale with 10 and 20 foot contours

Konar Pipe I ine Txtension Survey falling in Sheet 73 E on 6 inch scale with 10 foot contours

Naraj Reservoir falling in Sheet 73 H, on 4 inch scale, with 10 and 20 foot contours Um Tru Reservoir falling in Sheet 78 N and 78 O on 6 inch scale with 20 foot contours

Kosi Dam Extension falling in Sheet 72 \ on 32 inch scale with 20 foot contours

Bihar Mica Belt Survey falling in Sheet 72 H on 1/25 000 scale with 25 foot contours

Planmetric control was carried out by normal triangulation and traverse

Height control was done either by tachymetry or by observing vertical angles with theodolites or chinometer in the lattic case distances were measured off the trangulation thart projected on a scale large enough to give a suitable accuracy of linear measurements.

(b) Kopili River Flood Control Scheme—Flus is in Kamrup and Vongong districts Assam filling in Sheets Nos 78 N and 83 B. Maps were required for an area of 2 miles on either side of Kopili and Kalvag rivers on 4 inch scile with 1 foot contours for the Chief Frigneer Public Works Department Assam

Planimetric and height control was done by traversing and tertiary simultaneous double levelling of 1 foot contours

(c) Ganga Bridge Project—This covers the Mol unch Ghât area on the Ganges River and falling in Sheets 72 G and 72 K. The Engineer in Chief Ganga Bridge Project required—

- (1) A strip map showing details and names of 800 square miles of area from Suraj, trb. (72 K) to Pitna (72 G) prepared by revisine the existing 1° tops graphical maps from air photograp his taken in 1048
- (u) Co-ordinates of control points (without heights) half or one mile apart along both bulks to enable the rail way engineers to take cross actions of the Ganges river and the Re earch Station Poons to construct a model of the river on 1/500 scale.

(m) Co ordinates of control points with heights 3 miles apart beyond the Kladir line (an imaginary line beyond which the river is never likely to wander) on both banks as perminent fixed points nating stations at one and a half or two miles apart and observing the intermediate hit final points by interaction. This plus falled after a period because sand storms and haze did not give clear visibility and means of erosing the Ganges river were limited. Therefore the major portion of the control was carried out by triver c and connections of points on either side of the river were made by trungulation at 20 to 30 miles intervals.

Detail on photographs was also verified on the ground for their correct classification and interpretation by air survey drafts

- (d) Calcula Electrifeation Scheme (Route Survey of Trans mission Line) This falls in Sheets 79 \ and 79 B and was carried out for the Department of Electricity Development West Bengal Fix tion of stations at 300 or 150 yards intervals along routes of transmis ion lines as indicated by their lineson officer and determination of differences of levelled heights between the stations were required. Vormat theodolite triverse and tertiary single levelling were used for this purpose
- (e) Survey of Tea Estates in Assum and West Bengal—These fall in Sheets 78 B and 78 F and the work was for Vessrs all in Sheets 78 B and 78 F and the work was for Vessrs area of their holdings for each tea estate and the areas of tea plantation cultivated and waste lands. Traverse for planmetric control and ground verification of detail on photographs were carried out for air survey of five estates in Vest Bengal on 16 inch scale. The remainder of the tea estates in Vest Bengal on 16 inch scale. The 1949 and north field season (1949 50).

Digha Suriey—This was on the sea coast of West Bengal adjacent to the Oriss's border and falling in sheet 73 O, and was required for town planning purposes by the Government of West Bengal on 16 inch scale with 5 foot contours. Framework by traverse and heights by tertainty leveling were provided before the survey was commenced. The country is mostly undulating with shifting sand dunes interspersed with patches of cultivition. Flattish areas were contoured by the climopole method and steep sand dunes by normal plane table methods with a close density of climometric heights.

Dihang Reservoir —Thus is in the NE Frontier tracts of Assam fulling in Sheets 82 L and 82 P A survey on 4 mich scale with 50 foot contours was required for the Central Waterpower Irrigation and Navigation Commission Orders for taking up this job were received early in February 1949 Arrangements collection and despatch of personnel and kit took several weeks One surveyor commenced his work on 1st March, the second on 25th March and the third on 7th April Unusually carly and incessant rains did not permit more than 12 to 15 working days in a month surveyor went sick in the field with malaria and another with septic fever due to bites from leeches and jungle flies. Thus no appreciable progress was made on this work except that portions of traverse lines totalling about 50 line at miles in length were completed The lines are unconnected with each other have to be properly connected with triangulated points next field season (1949-50) Tranculation could not be resorted to as no means of crossing the Dihang river for strutches of 30 to 40 miles exist, and communications in the are a are also difficult due to the dense jungle

Officer in charge -Mr H H I hillips

25 General -The unit was chiefly employed on Irrigation surveys for the Kosi Irrigation Project to meet the requirements of the Central Waterpower, Irrigation and Navigation Commission Maps were required for the planning of an extensive system of canals in the plains of Southern \epal and Northern Bihar whole area for survey during the period under report (except a strip of land adjoining the west bank of the Kosi river, which will contain the head works of the proposed West Kosi Canal) was covered with air photography, and the survey was carried out by the method described in Appendix II to Technical Report, 1947

Although the main task of the unit was the survey of the Kosi commanded area, the following additional surveys were carried out -

- (1) In the field season 1947-48 -
 - (a) A ground survey on the 1/1,000 scale, with 10 foot contours of part of the Kosı Dam area around the actual dam site falling in Sheet 72 N. required for the prehminary investigation and design of the dam
 - (b) Triangulation in Nepal in Sheets 72 E and I, to provide planimetric control for air survey on the 1 meh scale of a part of the Kosı catchment area, in connection with the Kosi Hydro electric Project
- (u) In the field season 1948-49 -
- (a) Planimetric and height control, ground verification and marking on the air photographs of height and planimetric control points, for subsequent air survey with contouring at 1-foot vertical interval, of a portion of area for the Ganga Barrage Scheme surveys in Sheets 72 0, P. 78

C and D The Public Works Department of the Government of West Bengal levelled cross sections of the river about half a mile spart for the purpose of making models of the river for experimental purposes. A proportion of the cross section terminal points, on both banks of the river, was connected to the main traverse framework. The balance were pricked on air photographs for subsequent intersection on the air survey compilation.

- (b) Ground survey, on scale 4 inches to a mile, of a jungle covered strip of land adjoining the west bink of the Kosi river, in Sheet 72 N, with contouring at 5 foot vertical interval up to the 400 foot contour and of 10 feet between the 400 foot and 450 foot contours. This survey will form a part of the Kosi Irrigation surveys.
- (c) Marking on the ground of points along the 1,100 foot contour on both the banks of the Kosi river and its tributaries, in the Kosi reservoir area, filling in Sheets 72 I, J, M and N
- 26 Personnel.—The average technical strength of the party was —

- 27 Technical Methods—(1) Kosi Irrigation Surveys—The standard procedure for irrigation surveys (see Appendix II, Technical Report, 1947), was followed with the following modifications—
 - (a) Stone laying was done, in a few sheets, on blue prints of the air survey compilation of the outline, instead of on the photographs marked with the theoretical stone positions. The obvious advantage of this method is that all misidentified and therefore wrongly air surveyed items of detail can be corrected on the ground, and the positions of other items of detail checked by ordinary plane tabling methods. The method could not be followed for all the sheets due to the late receipt of air photographs of the remaining area of work.
 - (b) For the ground survey on scale 4 inches to a mile of the jungle covered stip of land adjoining the west bank of the Kosi, planmeture control was provided by theodolite traverse, and a line of tertiary levelling was run to provide height control. As the area is mostly covered with dense jungle, the area was surveyed by plane table height traverse.

(11) Surveys on 4 inch scale in connection with the Ganga Barrage Scheme—The methods followed for providing planimetric and height control and for ground verification for air surveys were the same as for the Koai Irrigation surveys. The arts did not contain any GT stations and the triverse lines had to emanate from and close on stations of previous topographical triangulation. To ensure a sufficient stindard of accuracy of framework for 4 inch surveys, the stations of the topographical triangulation were re observed on 5 zeros for all horizontal angles. Scale and azimuths were adjusted at each end of the series by observing Hunter Short Base extensions and astronomical arights.

A mesh of levelled heights was established to control the contouring. To do this lines of tertiary levelling were run at 20 chun intervals and spot levels at 10 chun distances along the lines were priesed on the air photographs. Every second spot level was made into a bench mark by selecting semi permanent natural or artificial features, or embedding a stone in the ground.

(iii) Markinj on the Ground of Points along the 1,100 fool Contour on both banks of the Kosi River and its Tributaries—The requirement was to locate on the ground, the proposed top writer level of the Kosi Reservoir (i.e., the 1,100 foot contour) for the purpose of assessing compensation to Inublodders whose lands would be inundated by the reservoir. The assessments were made on the spot and the map positions of the points located along the contour were not required to be surveyed.

To commence a tertiary level line was run starting from a bench mark of secondary levelling at Barahakshetra, to a point on the 1,100 foot contour. To check the accuracy of the height of this point, the tertiary levelling was continued back to the starting bench mark at Barahakshetra along a different route

From the above point further points, at the same height above mean sea level, were located on both sides of the valley by observation with a level to improvised coloured targets. The targets had a central horizontal stripe and were fixed on poles so that the stripe was at the same height above the ground as the lovel axis. This working height, once fixed, was maintained throughout the whole operation for both lovel and targets.

The observer, having established his starting point, and adjusted his level to the correct height above the ground observes through the telescope to the coloured targets positioned on both sides of the valley and by a system of signals, directs the movements of the men holding the targets so that the stripes on the targets are brought on to the horizontal cross wire of the telescope. The bottom of the pole of each target has now been positioned on the ground at the same height above mean sea level as that of the starting point over which the level instrument is positioned, viz, 1,100 feet above mean sea level.

Further points, at the same height above mean sea level, were determined by carrying the method forward up the gorge. The height of each new point was checked from a second level position

Fo minimize errors due to the curvature of the earth and refriction the distince between the level instrument and any target was never allowed to exceed a third of a mile. The overall error in height, acceptable to the indentor, was not to exceed 5 feet. Except for the stirting height datum near the dam site, there was no other bench mark or trigonometrical station height in the gorgo area.

The hill sides in the area of the Kosi Re ervoir are very steep generally about 45 degree slopes, and very rugged, especially so near the Kosi Dun site. There were also numerous cliffs and lund-lides in the gorge.

It would, therefore, have been a more difficult and lengthy job to have done this work by ordinary levelling or by levelling combined with traverse or trangulation

- (iv) Koss Dam Suriey—The framework was carried out by transgulation and the large scale suries by normal plane table methods—as reported in Technical Report, 1947
- 28 Description of the Country—Recent old beds of the Kosi River were found to be overgrown with high grass and reeds, and burn ing the reeds and grass before stone laying and levelling was found to be the most economical method of clearing these obstructions

Patches of jungle occur in the area of survey in the plains of Vepil, and considerably slow down the progress of all types of held work, particularly stone-lying and tertiary levelling

29 Effect of Change of Plans on Out-turn—It is an advant up to have a head of traverse work for next setson's photographic combination and photo marking to give stone livers an early start, and a head of stone living for the next season's tertury levelling An attempt was made in this direction during the field season 1947–48, but no advantage could be taken of it in the field season 1948–49 due to an eleventh hour change by the indentor in the area for field work for 1948–49. This change also meant that are photography of a new area had to be undertaken in the early part of the field season 1948–49, and the party was supplied with prints after the commencement of the field season. This resulted in a very late start and a consequently poor out-turn for the whole field season.

32 Technical Methods—The total area of the Hirakud commanded area is approximately 2,021 7 sq miles. Of this 1800 5 sq miles were surveyed in three different field seasons 1946-47 1947-48 and 1948-49. The methods used are described in Appendry II of Technical Report, 1947.

The total area of Tikarpara Reservoir is approximately 700 sq miles of which 300 sq miles was triangulated to supply planimetric of two per three square miles

I triangulation points were posthich provides a sufficient density of planumetric control in that area. An area of approximately 40 sq miles was height controlled by tertiary levelling for 4 inch air survey.

1624 sq miles of Bihār Mica Belt area were height controlled by plane table fivings and traversing based on existing topographical and G T transgulation to a rough density of four heights per square unle. The existing topographical and G T transgulation stations and points were post pointed on the photographs and their density was sufficient for the control of 1/25,000 air surveys

A total of 2 65 sq miles of Hirākud Dam area was triangulated and theodolite traversed to supply sufficient points for plane table survey. In order to contour the area at 2 foot vertical interval a network of tertiary leveling was carried out to supply heights at approximately 3 chain intervals. The area was finally plane tabled by combined fixing and plane table traverse and contouring with "chinopoles".

33 Terrain—Hirakud commanded area consists mainly of undulating country covered with scattered trees and large areas of paddy cultivation. Other parts are undulating and covered with scrub and low jungle. The undulating ground necessitated a large number of close stations during levelling, while clearing in the jungle covered area further slowed down progress.

In the paddy cultivated areas, levelling could not be started before the end of November or early December, when the harvest

ing was completed

Hirlkud Dam area was deforested completely before the commencement of the survey. This area is more or less plain near the Wahanah river rising at both ends to an elevation of about 300 feet and ending on hills. The bed of the river is rocky 34 Climate — Fowards the end of Mirch and during April kixling had to be discontinued for about three hours in the middle of the day due to heat ridiation which was affecting the accuracy of observations.

- (vi) Deolbar Reservoir, Sheets Nos 72 L and 73 I—Complete air survey on 6 inch scale with contours at vertical interval of 10 feet, for the Damodar Valley Corporation—Due to badly tilted photographs full advantage could not be derived from the height control, so that a trace of the contour survey had to be sent out to the field for verification on the ground—A very rapid checking of detail was also done
- (vii) Sivol. - (m) Bokaro Coal field, Sheet No. 73 E Provision of further supplementary height control, by plane table and clinometer, for the complete air survey of this area (the previous height control not being entirely satisfactory)

40 Technical Methods—the various technical procedures adopted for similar types of surviva to the foregoing was described in Technical Report 1947. This also contains detuiled notes on mothods which are applicable to the surveys now reported.

In addition the following comments are mide as a result of experience gained during the period now under report --

- (1) The identification and pricking on photographs by field personnel of control points to be used for air survey has been found fully in many cases. The pricked per tions of the same point on two or more photographs have sometimes not been found to be in agreement. One reason for this is that field personnel do not prick points by sterioscopic examination of a pair of photographs but attempt to do it from single photographs. It is considered that field prints with control pricked on them should invariably be supplemented by descriptions and diagrams of planimetine control points.
- (n) Filted photography is causing much difficulty in contouring by the present method of inspection under a steroscope. Under such conditions the height control loses much of its value. Where photography is appreciably tilted it has been found more economical and accurate to carry out the contouring by plane table methods on the ground using prints of the air survey of the detail. The advent of steroplotting machines will of course greatly lessed this difficult.
- (iii) It has been learned from experience that contouring by present methods of flattish areas from large scale air photographs at an interval of 5 feet or less,

No 6 Party No 8 Party

No 8 Party No 10 Party

No 17 Party

Besides the above, the Headquarters Section under the direct control of the Director Southern Circle, had also to carry out several project surveys. No reference has been made to No. 10 Party's work in these notes, as this party only came under the control of the Director, Southern Circle in December 1948 and its activities were changed to those of a training party for Topographical Trainies, Pype B', of the Division II of Class III service

A syllabus of training for Topographical Trainees, Type 'B' has been given in Appendix to these Technical Notes

HEADQUARTERS SECTION

42 General—The Headquarters Section, in the charge of Mr W Kalappa (Class II), carried out, during the period under teport, air survey and mapping work in connection with several irrigation and development projects, which are mentioned in Part I of General Report, 1948-49 Matters of technical interest in respect of certain tasks are mentioned below

43 Pennār Reservoir Sheets 57 J, N -

(1) Introduction—The original demand was for the survey and preparation of a map of the proposed Pennär Reservoir, on scale 4 inches to 1 mile, with contours at 10 feet vertical interval. As the map was required to calculate the capacity of the proposed reservoir and to determine the lind area that would be submerged, it was decided in consultation with the Indentor, the Chief Engineer for Irrigation, Vladras, to economize by preparing instead contoures placed ones on the scale of 4 inches to 1 mile with contours at 10 feet vertical interval of the vice from the site of the proposed dam, upstream to a height of 420 feet above mean sea level

- (u) Description of Country —The reservoir area consisted of low jungle clad hills interspersed with open cultivated valleys which were partly flat and partly undulating
- (iii) Existing Framework —The existing trigonometrical control in the reservoir area was
 - (a) Old minor topographical triangulation carried out by 7 different triangulators in various seasons between 1915 and 1922
 - (b) Levelling lines carried out by the PWD along longitudinal and cross sections of the reservoir area, at about half mile intervals and up to a height of 400 feet above mean sea level. The heights of this levelling were adjusted to GT Levelling heights
 - (iv) Height Control —To provide adequate height control for contouring photo messacs the following methods by which to supple ment the existing control were considered
 - (a) To cover the area by a network of supplementary tra angulation and further supplement this by theodolite traversing or chnometric heights wherever necessary
 - (b) To provide additional heights by chinometer, using 2 inch scale blue print enlargements of 1 inch maps mounted on plane tables
 - (c) To identify and check existing PWD levelling heights and supplement these by tertirry levelling wherever necessary
 - (v) Methods Adopted —A scrutiny of the old triangulation data revealed that the heights of some of the common points of the various triangulators differed by as much as 12 feet and that the triangulated heights had not been adjusted to the spirit level net It would have involved considerable time and labour to adjust the various triangulation series to bring the heights to terms of the spirit-level net before the heights could be accepted for 10 foot contouring. It was, therefore decided to adopt the methods described in para (iv) (c) above, although it was released that many of the PWD levelling heights may not be identifiable on the ground and that a rigorous check of the PWD levelling heights would be necessary before they could be accepted.

As the field work proceeded it was found that only about 30% of the PWD cross section level lines and about 20% of the heights of any cross section line were identifiable even with the help of the PWD levellers Tertiary level lines were therefore, run between PWD cross section lines starting and closing on identified PWD marks Additional heights were thrown out where necessary and pin pointed on photographs on the ground. The PWD levelling heights were subjected to frequent checks interse and also by connections made to GT bench marks in the area. A few large errors were detected and rectified

In flat ground where contours were few and far apart, tertiary level lines were run along each contour

- (v1) Out turn A detachment consisting of 3 Surveyors (Topographical Assistants) and 6 Topographical Trainees Type 'B', all new to this type of work completed the height control and post pointing on 4 inch photo enlargements, of an area of 350 square miles in a period of 4 months. The detachment was supervised by a Class II Officer
- (vii) Value of Methods -The methods adopted proved success ful e was consider able s aght control by levellı traverse proved to be more economical for the type of country covered
- Other Projects -The other project surveys carried out by the Headquarters Section were -
 - (1) 16 inch Pennär Dam survey in Sheet 57 N
 - (11) 16 inch air survey and mapping of Bangalore Town Extension in Sheet 57 H
 - (111) 16 inch air survey of Davangere Town and Environs in Sheet 48 N
 - (iv) 4 inch air survey of Moj Reservoir in Sheet 41 K

The normal methods were used for ground control and the radial line method was used for air survey compilation

For town surveys, venification of detail was carried out on the ground and contours were surveyed on the ground by the chnopole method, using foil mounted blue prints and black prints of the air survey compilations

No 6 PARTY

Officer in charge — Mr B N Murthy, B.Sc, to 2-11-48 Mr M. R Nair, B.A., from 3-11-48

- 45 General -The party carned out the following survey programme during the two seasons 1947-48 and 1948-49 ---
 - (a) A blue print survey on the 1 inch scale of Sheets 46 G/1.
 - 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 11, 12, 13, 15 (b) Air cum ground survey of Sheets 46 C/11, 12, 13, 14, 15,
 - 16, D/9 and 13, 14 and H/1, 2
 - (c) Original air survey on the 2 inch scale of the Limdi and Vajpur Dam sites
 - (d) Air cum ground survey on the 2 inch scale of the Dharoi Dam site
 - (e) Original air cum ground survey on the 32 inch scale of the Ukai Dam site
 - (f) Original air-cum ground survey on the 4 inch scale of the Mos Commanded Area.

- (g) Planimetric and height control for (e) and (f) above and for the proposed Ukai Reservoir survey
- 46 Blue Print Survey Existing surveys were pre 1905, pub mosaiced on old style sheets. Prints of the old style sheets were mosaiced on the modern lay out on the 1 meh scale using existing triangulation framework as control. Foil mounted blue prints on 1 inch scale of the mosaics were obtained for plane table sections. The survey was extrict out by the normal ground survey methods laid down in Chapter V of the Lopographical Handbook. Existing triangulation and traverse fi unework was used after careful verification and check on the ground.
- 47 Air cum Ground Survey Firee different methods, all of ne experimental nature were employed for this survey which was the first of its kind a-signed to the party.
- (a) For the survey of Sheets 46 C/13 14 detail was verified and in led up on air photographs on the ground. Contours were surveyed on the ground on black prints of the old 2 inch maps, using for height control the existing triangulated heights supplemented where necessary by additional heights fixed by theodolito observations. The contoured field sections thus produced were then reduced to the scale of 1.9 inches to a mile, the mean scale of the air photographs and blue prints obtained on kodatrace. Detail from the inked up photographs and contours from the field sections were finally obtained for fair mapping. Colour traces were maintained in the field for each air photograph.
- (b) For the survey of sheets 46 C/11, 12, 15 16 blue prints were obtained of existing old style maps on the mean scale of the air photographs. On these blue prints detail was corrected/inserted by tracing direct from the air photographs using existing framework and unchanged detail as control. The prints thus prepared were photographed to the 1½ inch scale and black prints obtained on foil mounted plane table sections on which ground verification and contouring on the ground was carried out. Colour traces were maintained in the field for each plane table section on which all detail was inked in proper colours.
- (c) In methods (a) and (b) above it was found that there was distortion of the graticules in the blue and black, prints prepared from old style maps, which it was troublesome to eliminate. For the survey of Sheets 46 D/9 and 13 15, H/1 and 2 therefore the following method was adopted—

Mosacs were prepared of the old surveys on standard projections by carefully fitting the old surveys to the plotted positions of the triangulation framework. From these mosaics foil mounted blue prints were obtained for plane table sections on the 2 inch scale the mean scale of the air photographs.

Fieldwork was then carried out in three stages.—

(1) Plane table reconnaissance for fixing auxiliary points post pointing of auxiliary points on photographs

verification and inking of detail not clear on photo graphs

- (u) Trueing and compilation of detail from photographs on to the plane-table sections, controlled by existing framework and auxiliary points
- (m) Ground verification of detail and contouring on the ground and inking of plane tables in colours

The country covered by these surveys consists mainly of the great alluvial plans of Broach and surat districts, gently sloping towards the coast of the Virbins Sc. It is devoid of any eminences except for a few flat topped hills in Sheets 46 D/14 and H/2 and a few palm covered inflocks of sand drift formed parallel to the coast line. Due to the flatness of the country auxiliary tree points had to be extensively flagged for identification. It is many of the old transquation stations and points were unidentifiable, a careful pre liminary plane table reconnaissance was incessive to provide adequate control.

48 Air Surveys of Limdi and Vajpur Dam Sites —These were carned out by normal riggrous air survey methods based on the existing plan control only. Since existing plan incompanies of the control was insufficient for contouring this was supplemented on the ground by plane table and clinometer.

49 Air-cum Ground Survey of Dharoi Dam Site —The method adopted for this survey was the same as that described in para 47(c) above

50 Ukāi Dam Site Survey —The survey required was of an area of 2 3 square miles on the 32 inch scale with contours at 5 feet vertical interval. The area was photographed on the 14 inch scale and enlargements obtained on the 32 inch scale

During the course of air survey compilation in the field under camp conditions, it was found that the photo enlargements and the kodatrace distorted beyond the permissible limits during the course of the day, and satisfactory adjustment of minor control plots was, therefore, not possible. The survey was, therefore, carried out by normal plane tabling methods

For the 32 inch scale survey special precautions were taken for the teneng plane tables over control points which were provided at intervals of about a quarter of a mile apart. Plane table tracerses were run by the back and forward ray method and were limited to about a quarter of a mile in length between starting and closing points. All distances were measured by chain or clinopole

The chnopole was used for contouring, its use being restricted to a distance of 150 feet from the plane table, beyond which it was found to give plottable errors in distance on the scale of survey In flat ground every contour was traced by chnopole. In sloping ground every alternate or third contour was traced by chnopole, the intermediate contours being plotted from the traced contours hilly ground the 25 foot or 50 foot contour, according to steepness was traced by clinopole and the intermediate contours interpolated with the help of spot heights fixed by clinometer

51 Moj Commanded Area Survey — The object of the survey was the production of a 4 inch map of the commanded area of about 60 square miles with contours at one foot interval. The specification also stipulated the fixing of "stones on the ground at or near the corners of a 30 chain grid, their heights above Mean Sea Level given to the nearest one tenth of a foot and their positions marked on the 4 inch mans of the area."

The area consists of open flat to slightly undulating country with trees in the vicinity of villages. There were patches of impenetrable babul jungle near the south extremity of the area. The Moj River flowing north to south divided the area into approximately two equal parts.

Detail survey was carried out by air survey methods and ven fied on the ground. Contours were surveyed on the ground with the aid of a dense network of heights fixed by levelling. The levelling heights were based on the heights of triangulated stations in the area. There was no precision levelling in the vienity of the area.

Main level lines by double tertiary levelling connecting all perimeter stones were first run around the area and then down the centre of the area along both banks of the Moj River Internal levelling was then carned out by single tertiary levelling to connect up the other stones. The closing error in the main line was 0.4 feet in 47 linear miles and in the tie lines the closing error did not exceed 0.2 feet in any line.

Stones were supplied by the Saurashtra Government and were of dressed limestone 9 inches by 9 inches by 2 feet. Stones were embedded in the ground with 6 inches projecting above ground level and were numbered senally as bench marks. Numbers were printed with coal tar. All stones were post pointed on the photographs.

52 Ukāi Reservoir Survey—The survey demand was for maps on the scale of 4 inches to 1 mile with contours at 10 feet vertical interval up to limit of 360 feet and at 5 feet vertical interval from 360 to 410 feet above mean sea level

Only planimetric control for air survey compilation was carried out during the field season by normal triangulation

Mr P S Shingal, from 1-11-48

53 General —No 8 Party continued to be employed mainly on the Tungabhadra Project in Hyderabad Air survey for the Kistna Dam Site was also undertaken by this party

- 54 Tungabhadra Commanded Area (Tungabhadra Project) During the two field serious covered by this report the party remained primarily engaged on completing the planimetric and height control for the 4 inch air survey of the area commanded by the Tungabhadra Project in Sheets 56 D. H. L. and 57 A. E. and I. This project work was usugmed to the party in 1946 and is described in the General Report, 1947— Videtailed description of the various technical methods used is given in the Technical Report for 1947. These methods have proved very satisfactory and there has been no occasion to revise them or introduce any new methods. Field out turn increased progressively as personnel became more and more familiar with the technical methods.
- 55 Cost Rates—Table C' for the cost rates of the Tunga badar Project survey is not included in this report. The cost rate has varied from year to very due to unforescent factors such as the political situation in Hyderabad State, the introduction of new pay scales the rising cost of labour and transport, etc. An accurate cost rate can only be calculated for the project as a whole at the conclusion of the fieldwork. The cost rate has shown a progressive rise from 8 annas per acre estimated in 1946 to 10½ annas per acre in 1947—48 and 12 annas per acre in 1949
- 56 Kistna Dam Site Survey—The party took up the air survey for the Kistna Dum site on the 16 inch scale. The Dam site is located just below the junction of the Kistna and Tungabhadra rivers in Madras. Planimetric and height control was completed by normal methods of transgulation and levelling. Heights were based on G.T. precision level heights, to which connections were made by double tertiary levelling and Hunter's Short Base traverse. A few river-depths were measured to bed rock level along and near to two possible axes of the proposed dam as these are of considerable value to the planning engineers.

In order to make is much use as possible of the old surveys rints of the old style I inch maps were mosaiced on the modern linch livour ifter applying the incessary corrections to the old latitude and longitude values. Mosaicing was controlled by existing transgulation framework. These mosaics were then photographically callinged to the near scale of air photography (10 inches to 1 mile approx.) and blue prints obtained on lodatrace for survey compilation was carried out on the lodatrace blue prints again it may the existing transpulling framework as control.

60 Field Work —Fieldwork con isted of ground ventication and contouring and was carried out by Trainees on 1 inch scale blue print reductions of the sur survey compilations. Zine mounted blue prints were used.

Owing to the densely wooded nature of the ground, heldwork had to be carried out almost entirely by plane table traverse Reserved forest boundaries were not cleared at the time of survey and were therefore extremely difficult to locate on the ground Up to date forest maps were obtained from the Forest Department Officials and the boundaries traced on the ground from these and surveyed with reference to adjacent detail.

- for Description of Country—The whole and consisted of fairly hilly country covered by dense mixed forest in which hamboo predominates
- 62 Comments on Methods—The pre 1905 surveys were found to be of zood quality and very few changes were found in detail as a result of the rigorous vertication in the field. Most of the errors found on the ground were due to faulty adentification on air photographs at the time of compilation.

Scope and object of the Press (Emergency Powers) A&, 1931—A section of the press developed the habit of giving direct or indirect incitement to crimes of violence and, it used, in particular to encourage crimes of a terrorist character by the eulogy of those guilty of such crimes. It was also noticed that 'propaganda in furtherance of crimes of violence is carried on by means of leaflets, pumphlets, bulletins, and the like Having regard to the spread of the terrorist movement and to the in creasing number of effences committed in pursuance thereof, it was considered necessary to provide for the better control of the Press and of unauthorised news-sheets and newspapers in order to prevent the encouragement given in this respect.

In clause (f) of section 4 (1), Press (Emergency Powers) Act, the words "Administration established" are used in the same sense in reference to an Indian State as the words "Government established by law" are used in regard to British India, and have the same meaning as the latter expression Section 4 of the Act, does not penalise a speech or publication which brings or attempts or tends, to bring into hatred or contempt, the Minister or Ministers or other officials of an Indian State, as such, as distinguished from the system of administration estab-

Po ver to prohib t issumblie

- 4 (1) When a District Magistrate or in a Presidency town the Chief Presidency Magistrate is of opinion that within his jurisdiction attempts are being made to promote assemblies of persons for the purpose of proceeding from British India into the territory of a State in India and that the entry of such persons into the said territory or their presence there in is likely or will tend to cause obstruction to the Administration of the said State or danger to human life or safety or a disturbance of the public tranquillity or a riot or an affray within the said territory, he may, by order in writing stating the material facts of the case, prohibit within the area specified in the order the assembly of five or more persons in furtherance of the said purpose
- (2) When an order under sub section (/) has been made, and for so long as it remains in force, any assembly of five or more persons held in contravention of the order shall be an unlawful assembly within the meaning of section 141 of the Indian Penal Code, and the provisions of Chapter VIII of the Indian Penal Code and of Chapter IX of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall apply accordingly
- (3) An order under sub section (1) shall be notified by proclamation, published in the specified area in such places and in such manner as the Magistrate may think fit, and a copy of such order shall be forwarded to the Provincial Government
- (4) No order under sub section (1) shall remain in force for more than two months from the making thereof, unless the Provincial Government, by notification in the official Gazette, otherwise directs

Scope of the section —This section is based on section 144 of the Code of Criminal Procedure but its operation is limited to the prohibiting of assemblies of persons for the purpose of proceeding from British India into the territory of an Indian State, and is therefore narrower in scope than section 144 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, which is intended generally to empower Magistrates to take preventive measures in certain urgent cases.

Who can take action under this section.— It is to be noted that the only officer who is empowered to issue orders under this section is the Chief Presidency Magistrate in Presidency towns, and the District Magistrate in all other places.

"Attempts are being made"—Attempt implies intention, "but law does not take notice of a mere intention without an act in pursuance of intention." The Magistrate would not, therefore, be justified in issuing any order under this section unless he is satisfied that some act in pursuance of an intention is being done.

Acts for the prevention of which order can be passed.—
The only act which can be prevented by an order under this section is the promoting of assembles of persons for the purpose of proceeding from British India into the territory of a State in India, and that can be done only if there is a likelihood for a tendency on the part of such persons to cause obstruction to the Administration of a State or danger to human life or safety or a disturbance of the public tranquillity or a riot or an affray within the said territory.

British India.—See notes under section 1 supra.

India.--Section 3(27) of the General Clauses Act X of 1897, as modified by the Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937, defines "India" as follows...

" 'India' shall mean British India together with all territories of any Indian Ruler under the suzerainty of His Majesty, all territories under the suzerainty of such an Indian Ruler, the tribal areas, and any other territories which His Majesty in Council may, from tune to time, after ascertaining the views of the Central Government and the Central Legislature, declare to be part of India."

"Order in writing" "The order which a Magistrate is empowered to pass under this section must be in writing and must set out the material facts of the case. But before such an order is passed, the Magistrate must form an opinion based on evidence or information before him that attempts are being made to promote assemblies of persons for the purpose stated in the section. It is not necessary that the information on which a Magistrate acts should be on record. It may be on a police report. The Magistrate, however, should not act on the report of an interested person. In a case under section 144 of the Criminal Procedure Code, it has recently been held by the Bombay High Court that an order under the section should be clear and definite. This authority can egually apply to orders made under this section.

The Calcutta High Court is of the opinion that in cases of grave urgency the Magistrate need not set out in the order the grounds of his action, where on the facts reported by the Police and accepted by him, there appears to be no doubt that a most certous riot is apprehended, but in the absence of any such

NOTES.

Foundation of the section.—This section is practically a copy of section 144 of the Criminal Procedure Code, 1898, with only certain verbal alterations to meet the object of the present Act. The main difference between section 144 of the Criminal Procedure Code and this section is that whereas under section 144 the District Magistrate, the Chief Presidency Magistrate, Sub-Divisional Magistrate, or any other Magistrate not being a Magistrate of the third class specially empowered by the Provincial Government or the Chief Presidency Magistrate or the District Magistrate can proceed under that section, it is only the District Magistrate, or in a Presidency-town, the Chief Presidency Magistrate that can take action under the present section

This section differs from the previous section 4 of this Act in that the previous section is confined to the prohibiting of assemblies of five or more persons from proceeding to or entering into the territory of an Indian State, the present section is like section 144 of the Criminal Procedure Code, meant to empower the District or the Chief Presidency Magistrate to prohibit certain acts in general which tend to obstruct the Administration of States. The section is thus much wider in its score than section 4.

When action can be taken under this section.-The District

Magistrate or the Chief Presidency Magistrate can only take action under this section if the matter is very urgent, and a speedy prevention of the apprehended act is desirable in the interest of the Administration of any State Unless there is urgency the Magistrate has no jurisdiction to proceed under this section.' The facts of the case in themselves must show urgency.

Written order should contain material facts -The written order which District Magistrate or Chief Presidency pass under Magistrate may thie section must conmaterial facts of the case " The information tain the on which the Magistrate acts may be oral ' or contained in a Police report 13 A Calcutta authority however, lays down that a Magis trate has jurisdiction and is fully justified in passing an emergent order, without setting out in the order the grounds of his action. where on the facts reported by the Police and accepted by the Magistrate, there appears to be no doubt that a most senous riot is apprehended ", but in the absence of such materials, and of any emergency, the order would be regarded as without jurisdic-

Order to abstain from a certain act - The first essential of an order passed under this section is that it must be addressed to a definite person, viz, it cannot be addressed to a class or body of persons,16 and secondly, the act prohibited should be a certain and definite act which if not prohibited would cause or be likely to cause obstruction to the Administration of a State in India or danger to human life or safety or a disturbance of the public tranquility or a riot an affray within the said State, and thirdly, the order must be served upon the person concerned in the manner provided by section 134 of the Code of Criminal Pro cedure, 1898, viz, in the manner provided for service of summons, or if that be not possible then by proclamation published in such manner as the Provincial Government may by rule direct a copy of which should be stuck up at such place or places as may be fittest for conveying the information to such nerson 17 Vague and indefinite orders should not be passed

For the validity of an order under this section it is also necessary that the order should be to abstain from a certain act, and not to do a certain act, because the section authorises only a restrictive order and does not permit the District Magistrate or the Chief Presidency Magistrate to make a mandatory or positive order directing a person to do a particular act.

Sub-section (2) Ex parts order—This sub-section empowers the District or the Presidency Magistrate to pass an ex parte order, but this power can only be exercised in case of emergency or where the circumstances are such that the required notice cannot be served upon the desired person in due time, if for instance, when there is a Police report that immediate action is necessary, if or when the Magistrate apprehends that he can not prevent a breach of the perce unless the order be immediately made? When such a step is taken, the reasons for proceeding under this sub-section must be recorded in otherwise the order will be set aside.

Sub section (3) - The corresponding sub section under section 144 of the Criminal Procedure Code has the words 'when frequenting or visiting a particular place' after the words or to the public generally. It has been held under sub section (3) of section 144 of the Criminal Procedure Code that a Magistrate has no power to pass an order directed against the general public simpliciter, and that the order can only be directed to the general public when frequenting or visiting a particular place 'The omis sion of the words when frequenting or visiting a particular place from the present sub section would appear to indicate that the order could be addressed to the general public simpliciter.

clear therefore that no intermediate or interlocutory order pending final orders can be passed under this sub-section. There is no doubt that in the words used in the sub-section the District Magistrate or the Presidency Magistrate is empowered to modify or rescind the original order on any ground whatsoever, but generally speaking the rescission or alteration—should only be made when the circumstances which necessitated the order do not exist 24

Sub section (5)—When an ex parte order under sub-section (2) is called in question under sub-section (4), the normal procedure should be for evidence to be recorded in the usual way by examination and cross-examination of witnesses in open Court, because the proceeding is a judicial one 'The Magistrate is bound to record the evidence, and cannot refuse to record it on the ground that his opinion could not be changed by any such evidence 'A copy of the information received by the Magistrate must be supplied to the accused, as he has a right to know what the information was on which the Magistrate acted in order to show that it was unfounded or insufficient.

Sub-section (6) —The order passed under this section can remain in force only for two months, and therefore it is necessary that it should be such as can be recalled at the end of two months, and should not be in its nature irrevocable "The provisions of the section cannot be allowed to be evaded by means of successive orders or renewing the original order at the end of two months. "

Where, however, it is desirable that the duration of the order should be extended to more than two months, the Provincial Government should be moved to extend it by notification." For the Provincial Government it is also necessary to state the reasons for extension. "
The period of two months is to be counted from the date of the making of the original order, and not from the date of its confirmation on a subsequent date." A recent Patna authority lays down that the period of sixty days begins to run from the date on which notices are issued."

High Courts' power of Revision —An order under section 144 of the Criminal Procedure Code is revisable by the High Court under section 435 of the same Code "On the analogy of these authorities it would appear that an order passed under this section is also similarly revisable. The High Court does not however ordinarily interfere in revision either under section 435 of the Criminal Procedure Code, or section 107 of the Government of India Act, as prima facie the local Magistrate who is responsible for keeping the peace, is the best Judge of whether an emergency exists or not."

PART III CONTENTS

- (A) The evolution of the idea of an All India Federation and the difficulties in the way of its early realisation.
- (B) Provisions of the Government of India Act, 1935, relating to the accession of the Indian States to the Federation of India

(A) THE EVOLUTION OF THE IDEA OF AN ALL INDIA FEDERATION AND THE DIFFICULTIES IN THE

WAY OF ITS EARLY REALISATION

The appointment of the Simon Commission in 1927 and the consequent intensive agitation in British India for the early establishment of dominion form of Government, brought the question of the future relations of the Indian Government and the states to the fore. The Simon Commission itself addressed a letter to the Prime Minister in October 1929 and drew attention to the importance when considering the direction which the future constitution of India is likely to take of bearing in mind the relations which may develop between. British India and the Indian

States The Commission recommended the examination of the relationship between these two constituent parts of the Greater India and further recommended that a conference should be called to which representatives of both British India and the India States should be invited. In the same month Lord Irwin the

States should be invited In the same month Lord Irwin the Viceroy of India made his historic announcement on behalf of ajesty's Government that in their judgment it is implicit in 'tation of 1917 that the natural issue of India's constitu tress as there contemplated is the attainment of Domi's The Viceroy further declared that a Round Table would soon be held in which His Majesty's Govern if meet representatives both from British India and Indian the purpose of seeking the greatest possible agreement under paramountcy descend to British India? How will the problem of defence affect the treaty rights of the states? Accordingly informal private discussions were held between Maharaja Patuala the then Chancellor of the Chamber of Princes and some prominent liberal British India leaders. The idea of an All India Federation really emerged from these discussions and was developed through further discussions carried on between the delegates to the Round Table Conference on their way to London

Every section of the first Round Table Conference enthusias tically supported the idea of an All India Federation, though perhaps no one had any clear idea of the ultimate form such a federal constitution would assume H H the Maharaja of Patiala the Chancellor of the Chamber of Princes said the main principle of Federation stands acceptable and I echo the confident hope expressed the other day by His Highness the Maharaja of Bihaner that by far the larger proportion of states will come into the federal structure at once and that the remainder will soon follow His Highness further stated we have all made it clear however that we consider certain things to be essential. We can only federate with a British India governed as it is at present."

The task of drawing up the federal part of the constitution was entrusted to a committee of the Round Table Conference known as the Federal Structure Sub Committee which produced a skeleton scheme showing the broad outlines of the Federal Constitution

Princes' reaction to Sankey scheme of Federation—A section of the Princes on a detailed consideration of the Federal scheme realised that their position in the proposed Federal on would be rather risky as in their opinion adequate safeguards had not been incorporated in that scheme. They accordingly pressed that 'the states will join an All India Fede ration on the assumption that the Crown will accept responsibility for securing to them the following guarantees —

- that the necessary safeguards will be embodied in the constitution,
 - (2) that under the constitution, their rights arising from Treaties, or Sanads or Engagements, remain invollate and inviolable
- (3) that the sovereignty and internal independence of the states remain intact and are preserved and fully respected and stated that obligations of the Crown to the states remain unaltered "

After prolonged and lengthy discussions at the successive Round Table Conferences final proposals of His Majesty's Government for Indian Constitutional Reforms were embodied in a White Paper, which was submitted to the examination of a Joint Select Committee of the both Houses of Parliament

Some of the safeguards formulated by the Princes, were found not to have been incorporated in the White Paper scheme Serious objections were raised in regard to direct taxation and to constituent powers vested in the Federation. The Vicerov however, assured the Princes that they could make further repre sentations on these points, before the Joint Parliamentary Com Accordingly Sir Manubhai Mehta and Nawab Sir mittee Liagat Hyat Khan were sent as delegates, on behalf of the Princes, to the Joint Select Committee and in the Memorandum submitted by them, on behalf of the states they claimed the full quota of seats reserved for the representatives of the states, irrespective of the number of states joining the Federation, and immunity from any form of direct taxation. It was also urged that the Federal Senate should enjoy equal powers with the Federal Assembly. including the power of purse

The Joint Select Committee's Report was published in November 1934, and a Bill, based or its recommendations was soon after introduced in Parliament. The Princes thereupon engaged the services of eminent lawyers like Mr. Wilford Greene, K.C., Porfessor J.H. Morgan, K.C., and Mr. Lennox McNair, to scrutinise and examine the Joint Parliamentary Committee Report and the Bill, from the legal point of view. Another committee consisting of some of the most prominent ministers of the states was appointed to examine the Bill, from the administrative point of view.

In the meantime the Princes met, in an informal meeting, held in Bombay in February 1935, to consider the provisions of the draft Bill, before Parliament Discussion amongst the Princes revealed, that the draft Bill contained certain provisions especially relating to accession of states to the Federation, which were not at all acceptable to the Princes. The Secretary of State, realising the gravity of the situation, arising out of Princes' dissatisfaction, with the provisions of the Bill, readily agreed to introduce necessary amendments to meet the states' point of view Clause 6 of the Bill was accordingly amended, to make it clear that a ruler of a state accedes to the Federation by virtue of his instrument of accession and not of the Act. The provisions in case of a breakdown of the constitution were also amended, with a view to bring ing the period of the Vicerov's dictatorial powers under stricter Perliamentary control, and to limit such a period to three years

The Government of India Bill, after a chequered career in both Houses of Parliament, was finally passed on July 24 and received the Royal Assent on August 2, 1935

Negotiations with the Princes to facilitate their entry into the Federation —With the enactment of the Government of India Act of 1935, the British Government in India, became anxious that the Princes should make up their mind to accede to the All India Federation at an early date. With this end in view, the Viceroy's representatives have been visiting the individual states to explain and clarify the implications of their entry into the Federation. The Princes have also been meeting in committees and conferences to discuss and analyse the provisions of the Government of India Act and the draft Instrument of Accession prepared by the Government of India. But up to this time they have not been able, finally to make up their minds, whether they should or should not accede to the proposed Federation. This hesitancy and timidity on the part of the states in making a final decision, is not stronge as recently pointed out by Sir Kailas Haksor.

It does not strike me as at all strange he said, that the States are nervous. Their experience of the last 18 years tends to make them nervous and the fact that in some 'ederations at least the verdicts of the Federal Court have extinguished rights believed to have been safeguarded by the provisions of the Act is not exactly reassuring."

True, such hesitation is in some, possibly a large, measure, due to vague apprehensions. It is also due to the inability of the authorities to give positive assurances as to the future in respect of specific issues. The hesitation of the authorities is due less to their want of knowledge of the intentions of definite provisions of the Act than to their imbility to anticipate the interpretations of those provisions by the Federal Court

Justification — Also, there is some justification, at any rate at the present stage, for the hesitancy or timidity of the states in taking a plunge to bring. Federation into being. In effect, they are asked to place their trust in the protecting arm of the Governor-General, upon whom has been laid a special responsibility to protect them. Those of you who are familiar with the Government of India Act of 1935 will recall the provisions of Section 12.

"Apart from the fact that, so far as the states are concerned, that section leaves to the Governor-General the widest possible discretion, the states imagine—rightly or wrongly—that when Federation is functioning, the pressure exerted on the Governor-General by so many convergent forces will be so great and the ments, in the abstract of policies favoured by the country at large will be so compelling that, with the best will in the world he might find it impossible to protect the rights of any Indian state, which is how clause (g) of sub section (1) of that section is worded

But it is not merely the inadequacy of the so-called protecting provisions of the Act which appears to be worrying the states.

There are other considerations

The Chapter on finance more particularly the specific Sections in that Chapter, read with the Federal Legislative List, place obligations upon the states the incidence of which, it has been admitted, cannot be definitely estimated 1 am referring to sections 137, 138, 139 and 140

Obligation - The first of these Sections. dealing with sources of revenue vield the which distributable 18 amongst the provinces and the states provides for a surcharge which may be levied for Federal purposes The provisions of Section 138 also lay upon the states the obligation to pay surcharge on Income Tax By Section 139 the states become responsible, after ten years have elapsed from the establishment of Federation, to pay to the Federation the proceeds of the Corporation Tax or an equivalent Section 140 deals with Salt duties Excise duties and Export duties and it lays down that if an Act of the Federal Legislature so provides the net proceeds may be distributed amongst the provinces and the states in accordance with such principles of distribution as may be formulated by the Act which imposes those duties

As far as I am aware, nobody has yet been able to say

what the incidence of the surcharge under Section 137 is likely to be, nor, so far as the states are concerned, how the recoverable amount of surcharge under Section 138 is going to be calculated, while the prospects of the distribution of Fxcise duties are, by the States, regarded as remote

Again discussing the question of sovereignty he observed -

"You are all aware how sensitive the states are on the subject of their sovereignty, which has been upheld by judicial decisions. However, limited that sovereignty may be as the result of historical rivalry or political practice, the Austinian School of Jurists and all authorities on Constitutional Law regard the measure of sovereignty still enjoyed by the states and their Rulers as a real sovereignty. The admission that the Rulers of the States can only accede to the Federation by an act of their own volition that is, by voluntarily signing an Instrument, also makes it clear that the Act of 1935, in recognition of the consensus of authoritative opinion, sets out to bring Federation into being by suggesting to the states that they delegate the necessary measure of their sovereignity to the future Federation.

"It is again in recognition of their sovereignty that subsection (2) of section 6 of the Act of 1935 leaves it to the states to specify the matters with respect to which the Federal Legislature may make laws for them and the limitations to which the power of the Federal Legislature to make laws and the exercise of the executive authority of the Federation in the states would be respectively subject.

"Now, it must be appreciated that irrespective of the question of sovereignty, the states, for purposes of internal administration, have been autonomous—the larger states completely so, the others, perhaps, in a comparatively lesser measure. The question, therefore, arises, that they are bound to take into consideration the fact to what extent this internal autonomy would be affected by their entry into Federation."

Mr Morgan's opinion —Mr J. H. Morgan, whose opinion as a lawyer, was sought, by the Chancellor of the Chamber of Princes, on the Government of India Act and the Draft Instrument of Accession, submitted the following report:—

Socercignty — Dealing with transformation in the scope and character of the sovereignty of the states in the event of their accession which is affected by the Act, Mr Morgan says "Their sovereignty is very considerably impaired and wholly transformed in this respect the Act itself is quite as revolutionary as was the original Bill"

The amendments put up by Mr Morgan and his colleagues were to a considerable extent not accepted by the India Office, while the effect of their acceptance in other cases was merely verbal

During the passage of the Government of India Bill some of the leading Princes, in a communication to the Government, formulated certain observations on the Bill, expressing apprehensions at the fundamental points" put forward by them not being accepted

'As a result of their objections, certain amendments were accepted by the Government and duly passed ments were purely verbal and quite illusory changed the legal effect of the original draft of Section 6 of the Act in the slightest degree.

"To legislate for a Federated State is to legislate for the subjects of the Ruler of that State and it matters not whether the subjects are expressly mentioned as coming within the scope of the Federal Legislative authority or whether they are not so mentioned

"There can be no question that power to legislate for British India' means the power to legislate for all subjects of His Myesty in British India and indeed, for everybody else resident therein

"It is, therefore, obvious that the subjects of every Ruler of a Federated State will be just as much subjected and as directly subjected to the Federal authority as His Majesty's subjects. Their allegiance would henceforth be divided between their Ruler and the Federation."

Turning from the legislative sphere to the executive, Mr Morgan states It is of the utmost importance that the Princes should bear in mind that the coercive power of the Federal Government in securing federal legislation to compel the states to carry out any executive obligations imposed on them is quite unlimited under the Act

'The Federal Legislature is, as has been well said in the Canadian case, omnipotent within the Federal sphere and, all though the states hope and expect that enforcement of the Federal obligations upon a state will be confined to the Viceroy in the exercise of paramountcy, it is not so confined either in the Act or in the Draft Instrument of Accession

"It remains, therefore, to consider this 'explanatory memo randum' in the light of the Federal Union." A Federal Union means in law the surrender of sovereignty and an irrevocable surrender."

Amendment —Mr Morgan concludes his observations on the sovereignty of the states according to Federation in relation to amendment of the Constitution Act He says The subject of the amendment may be looked upon from two points of view—(I) amendment of the Act on the initiative of the states and (2)

amendments of the Act in opposition to the wishes of the states but on the initiative of Imperial Government or Federal Govern ment

As regards the first case the states may at some future date find their rights authority and powers so seriously curtailed as a result of the judicial construction of the Act as to move them to petition the Government and Parliament of Great Britain to amend the Act in such a manner as to restore the construction which the Rulers of the states had put upon the Act when they had decided to accede to the Federation

This is of course the only way in which a judgment of the Supreme Court of Appeal interpreting the Act of Parliament in a sense contrivi to that intended by the Legislature which passed it or to the intentions of the parties who promoted it can be corrected.

The possibility of such a remedy is not excluded by the Act but as a matter of constitutional practice it is extremely un likely that the Government and Parliament of Great Britain would consent to give effect to any such petition on the part of the states

Indissoluble — The question of constitutional amend ment has an important bearing upon the 'indissoluble character of the Federal Union which will be created by the accession of the states. The word 'indissoluble' is nowhere used in the Act as it is in the Preamble to the Federal Constitution of Australia. But the Union is just as indissoluble as in the case of the Australian Commonwealth and in the same sense

*The states according to Federation have no right of *eccession and *eccession is only possible if the Imperial Parliament at the request of the states amends the Act to that effect

This it may be taken as certain that the Imperial Parlia ment will as a matter of constitutional practice never consent to do To do so would be to negative the pledge of the ultimate grant of Dominion Status made by the Secretary of State during the passage of the Bill through the House of Commons "

Mr. Morgan next deals with the question of interpretation of the Federal constitution within the Empire and says. "It is an historical fact that always and everywhere contracting parties to a Federal constitution have found that, as a result of judicial con struction, the Federal contract has turned out to have a meaning which they never intended when they made it

"On the whole, this judicial construction has resulted in their finding that they have given up power, rights and authority, which they never intended to give up

"Nontheless, the surrender of these rights has proved to be irrevocable. It could only be revoked either by secession, in other words withdrawal from the Federation or by an amend ment at the instance of the states of the Federal constitution. Neither course will be open to the states, once they have acceded to Federation."

Accession —Referring to the Instrument of Accession, Mr Morgan says 'Even if the Instruments are to be regarded as treaties in the sense accorded to such agreements in international law, it must be taken as certain that any extrinsic evidence of what was said or done in the negotiations preceding the accession of the states to Federation will be held by the Privy Council to be totally inadmissible as evidence of the meaning of the Instruments or of the intention of the parties, the Crown, on the one hand, and the Rulers, on the other, who made it

Mr Morgan next deals with the question of interpretation of the Federal constitution within the Empire and says "It is an historical fact that always and everywhere contracting parties to a Federal constitution have found that, as a result of judicial con struction, the Federal contract has turned out to have a meaning which they never intended when they made it

It could only be revoked either by secession, in other words withdrawal from the Federation or by an amend ment at the instance of the states of the Federal constitution. Accession —Referring to the Instrument of Accession, Mr Morgan says Even if the Instruments are to be regarded as treaties in the sense accorded to such agreements in international law, it must be taken as certain that any extrinsic evidence of what was said or done in the negotiations preceding the accession of the states to Federation will be held by the Privy Council to be totally inadm suble is evidence of the meaning of the Instruments or of the intention of the parties, the Crown, on the one hand, and the Rulers, on the other who made it

"The English Courts, in construing a treaty, follow the same rules as they apply to the construction of statutes and other instruments, namely, that 'the text must be construed as it now stands in the ratified convention and the intention of its proposers is immaterial"."

Dealing with the Instrument of Instructions, Mr Morgan savs 'It will be recalled that various proposals have been made for inclusion in the Instrument of Instructions to the Governor General of provisions for the protection of the rights and interests of the states in particular in such matters as 'discrimination'

The question arises as to what, if any, legal efficacy is to be attached to the Instrument of Instruction. The provisions of the Instrument of Instructions are unenforceable in law and the silent operation of the constitutional principles may and probably will in the long run result in the 'safeguards' contained in the Instrument becoming a dead letter

Dominion Status — Even as things stand at the present moment and without anticipating the grant—which may be either proximate or reinote of Dominion Status to Federated India, the sufequards provided by the Instrument of Instruction are by no means so safe as may appear

"It is hardly necessary for me to say that in my observations on the weakness of the Instrument of Instructions as a safeguard for the protection of the rights of the states no reflection whatso ever on the good faith of the Government which is responsible for it, is intended

"So long as that Government is in power, there can be no reason to doubt that the Instrument will be honourably observed alike in the letter and in the spirit. But a Government, equally with Parliament, to which it is responsible cannot hind its successors.

"As things are, therefore, the Instrument will hold good as a safeguard for just three years and no more with a safer the dissolution of the present Parliament, it is idle to speculate."

EVOLUTION OF FEDERATION

As regards the Federal Legislative list, Mr Morgan says. The states must really bear in mind that there will have to be a definite limit to limitations. In other words, Federation will never be brought into existence and will certainly never become a working proposition, if it is sought to impose limitations on the acceptance of items in the Legislative List, such as would prevent the Federal Legislature from legislating effectively at all.

Responsible Government—Referring to the executive power of the Federation, Mr Morgan says 'It will be impossible to institute, much more to develop, responsible government in the Federation of the executive power is reserved to the states. The whole idea of responsible government is that the Federal Executive should be responsible to the Federal Legislature.

If the states are allowed to reserve to themselves executive power the Federal Covernment, so far as the states are concerned, will be shorn of its responsibility to the Federal Legislature. The states must really make up their minds either to accept a share in the Government of Federation or to remain outside the Federation altogether."

Regarding paramountcy Mr Morgan declares Dualism of office of the Governor General contemplated by the Act itself seems to be an artificial one and must result either in the Viceroy being completely absorbed in the Governor General, or in the separation of the two offices by their assignment to two separate persons This separation is bound to come if and when Dominion Status is granted to India."

Want of harmony—Concluding Mr Morgan says 'Most of the imperfections of the Federal constitution are due to the fact that the authors of it have had to incorporate in one and the same political structure two fundamentally different polities, the Indian States and the provinces of British India

This is the explanation for a certain want of harmony in the design. The constitution is like a building, which, begun in one style of architecture, is to be completed in another—in part Gothic, in part Renaissance—and it may well be that the distribution of the stresses and the strain of the structure will appear in the course of time unequal to the burden of its support. In that case an amendment will become inevitable

It conforms to no theory of Federation, as such there be, but it is none the worse for that — It is empirical—but so is the British constitution and the British constitution has endured while more fanciful constitutions have long since passed away.

Sir Tej Bahadur's views—Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru, who was consulted by the Maharaja of Patiala on some of the points arising out of Mr Morgan's opinion referred to above, is in vital disagreement with Mr Morgan's views

Sir Tej Bahadur begins by qiscussing the peculiar characteris tics of the Indian Federation from the Federations in Canada and Australia and says that while cases coming up for discussion before the Privy Council or Federal Courts are useful up to a point they are not conclusive guides for questions which might arise under the present constitution. It would therefore, not be proper to be dogmatic on any issue at this stage and create fears and confusions where none would probably at all exist.

Question of secession—With regard to the question of secession in the event of a breakdown of the constitutional machinery under section 45 of the Government of India Act, Sir Tej Bahadur is of the opinion that no provision has been made in the Act as to what the step would be Secession is not contemplated in the Act but in the event of any deadlock or of an extraordinary situation arising the remedy would lie in the direction of extra legal or extra judicial negotiations with the Crown

Questions were put to Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru in order to obtain definite opinion on some of the important issues the most important of them being How is the sovereignty of a state affected by the Act except in so far as it has been voluntarily conceded by the Instrument of Accession 3

Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru s reply to this was —Beyond the Instrument of Accession the Sovereignty of states is not affected

Is the Instrument of Accession a final and complete limitation on the authority of the Federal Courts and the Privy Council?

Sir T B Sapru s answer to this question was in the affirmative

Has Pathament the power to legislate amending the protected provisions of the Act—without in substance affecting the Federation as established under this Act?

His answer was that the states were acceding to Federation as established under this Act therefore any fundamental change in the protected provisions of the Act would be putting an end to the Federation established under this Act. Therefore the Instrument of Accession would have spent itself and the agreement between the states and the Crown in that behalf would necessarily come to an end. The omnipotence of Parlament is not denied but amendment of protected provisions would necessarily mean termination of the existing understanding.

Can the Instrument of Instruction be disregarded by the Secretury of State rendering thereby the protection afforded to the states in the special powers of the Governor General nugatory?

Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru's answer to this question was in the negative. He said it would be no violent assumption on the part of the states to think that the Secretary of State would act honestly and he would conform to the high traditions of public integrity. In the event of any such instruction being disregarded by the Secretary of State, there would be enough remedies to bring him to book beyond the one of impeachment which, in these days, might be considered by some as obsolete and rusty weapon

Is it open to the Federation to confiscate money lying in a state bank or in a bank in British India to satisfy a Federal claim against a federating state?

Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru's answer was in the negative

Decrees of the Federal Court are declaratory and, therefore, cannot be executed as other decrees. There is no provision in the Act of the passing of special legislation confiscating such momes.

Report of Constitution Committee —The Constitution Committee appointed by the Chamber of Princes, submitted the following unanimous report —

The Committee met from January 25 to February 6, 1937, and the present report deals with the conclusions unanimously arrived at Ly the Committee in respect of the general form of the Instrument of Accession, Treaty and other rights within the Federal sphere, Administration and the Federal Legislative List

The Committee desire to make it clear that the present report forms only the first part of the full report and that it is proposed to meet again shortly in order to consider other matters affecting Accession

The Committee had before them both the essential and the negotiable safeguards, suggested by the Chamber of Princes in 1933, and have examined them with a view to ascertaining how far they had been met by the Government of India Act, 1935, and by the proposed draft Instrument of Accession.

Saleguards met.—Upon careful consideration they have come to the conclusion that the saleguards have been substantially met and that, in so far as they have not been met or remain open to doubt, the recommendations suggested below will effectively achieve the objects, which the saleguards were designed to serve. Nor are the recommendations conceived only in the light of the saleguards thus formulated; they represent conclusions arrived at independently by an examination of the Act and of the Draft Instrument and by an appreciation of that they consider to be essential in the interests of the states.

Accession.—The Committee first considered the general form of the Instrument of Accession.

The Committee are unanimously of the view that the clause dealing with "purpose," which is altogether new, should be entirely omitted. They consider that objection to the use of such terms as "united" is secondary in comparison with the consideration that the statement of a political ideal in a legal document may cause a tendency to set in which may have undesirable consequences whenever a matter of doubt or difficulty arises in regard to the construction of a particular clause.

The omission of the clause would in no sense detract from the costitutional value of the Instrument as governing the accession of the states and the Committee are convinced that the omission of the clause should be strongly urged.

It is felt, however, that the mention of the parties to the Federation, as made in the clause, should remain, and the Committee recommend that, in view of the proposed omission of the clause itself the following words should be inserted in the third recital to the Instrument after the words Federation of India

"Consisting of the Rulers of Indian States, the Provinces called Governors' Provinces and the Provinces called Chief Commissioners Provinces"

The order in which the constituent units have been mentioned above is in accordance with univaried past practice

Federal Powers —Clause 3 of the State s Draft Instrument of Accession of the 9th July, 1936 has not been included in the Government of India draft — The Committee desire to propose an amendment to that clause is follows —

No function in respect of any matters specified in the first Schedule hereto or under ary provision of the Act which applies to this state by virtue of this Instrument of Accession shall be exercised in relation to this state by any authority other than a Federal authority and save in accordance with the terms of this Instrument."

The object of this clause is partly covered by section 294 (2) of the Act which prevents the exercise of federal powers inside the state otherwise than by the Federation. The clause itself is intended to prevent the exercise in relation to the state of federal powers outside the state otherwise than by the Federation. It also covers the Railway Tribunal which has been omitted perhaps by inadvertance from section 294 (2)

Moreover there is an advantage in making it clear in the Instrument itself that federal powers and paramountey powers cannot co exist in respect of the same area. The argument that if it is a gloss on the Act it usurps the functions of the Federal Court does not appeal to the States as the clause represents what the states understand to be the intention of section 294 (2)

If there is room for doubt as to the meaning of section 294
(2) the states are entitled to have the position clarified. If there us no room for doubt, there appears to be no valid objection to clause 3.

The rigid insistence on the letter of the rule that the Instrument should not contain provisions, which may repeat or explain the provisions of the Act itself, may lead to difficulties which can be avoided without in any way going counter to the scheme of the Act itself.

There may be a point in saying that it is desirable that the Instrument should contain provisions, which are not in any sense inconsistent with the Act, but so far as merely making explicit what is admittedly the intention of the Act is concerned, the Committee find it difficult to see what real objection there could be to this course.

Relations with Crown—The Committee further support the view that the following clause should be inserted after the proposed Clause 3 discussed in the preceding paragraph

"Nothing in this Instrument shall affect the rights and obligations of the Ruler of this state in relation to the Crown with respect to any matter not within the functions exercisable by, or on behalf of, the Federation by virtue of this Instrument, and no Federal authority shall have jurisdiction with respect to such rights and obligations."

The effect of the two clauses read together would be that no one but the Federal authorities (or the Ruler) is to perform Federal functions and that Federal authorities are not to interfere in the relations between the Crown and the Ruler

Committee maintained their request for its inclusion.

Clause 4, paragraph 2, of the States' Draft Instrument of July 9, 1936, has not been accepted. Its object was to guard against a possible implication that the legislative powers conferred on the Federation by particular sections of the Act are tacitly accepted by the states

If clause 4 (2) were adopted, the Ruler, by his Instrument, would be sure that he would be accepting only such items of the Federal Legislative List and such legislative powers in the body of the Act as are specified in his Instrument

It might be urged that the Federal Legislature will not have power to make laws for the state, except in legard to matters which have been expressly accepted in the Instrument, and that the only matter, which a state will be required to accept in the Instrument, will be the items in the Federal List

Thus, for example, section 215 of the Act corresponds to item 53 of the Lederal Legislative List and it that item is not accepted the legislative power under section 215 will not be exercisable for the state.

The proposal to implement section 138 (3) by the addition of a new item to the Federal Legislative List corresponding to it is satisfactory but is based on an interpretation of the Act and the Instrument that the Federal Legislature will have no power to make laws for the state on any matter, unless that matter has been specifically accepted it the Instrument

Grave consequence —The Committee consider that if the second paragraph of the proposed clause 4 were included, this would clearly be the position if not, the Court may take a different view

The consequence appears so grave as not to warrant leaving the matter to the hazard of interpretation by the Federal Court

Section 101 is not a sufficient protection by reason of the fact that it only refers one back to the Instrument and, if there is any room for doubt in the Instrument the defect is not cured by the Act The possibility of doubt in the Instrument arises from the fact that by clause I of the Instrument the state authorises the Federal I egislature to exercise, subject to the terms of the Instrument, such functions as may be vested in them by the Act

Prima facte, the words "such functions as may be vested in them by the Act" would include all legislative powers which under any section of the Act, read in conjunction with section '99 (1), purport to be made applicable to a state

Section 99 (I) must itself be read in conjunction with all legislative powers conferred by the Act and it is immaterial whether a section conferring legislative power does or does not copressly mention the states, surface in any case the states are brought in by section 99 (I) unless there is some other provision of the Act to exclude them

The only other provision of the Act which might be relevant in this connection is section 101 which as stated above does not appear to be a sufficient protection. The clause has been pressed by the Informal Committee of Ministers in their meetings in September and December last and the present Committee desire to identify themselves with that view

Powers of Crown - Clause 13 of the States Draft Instrument of July 9, 1936, has not been accepted and an apprehension has been expressed that it might as it stands have possible reactions on the powers of the Crown It was not the intention of the clause that it should have such effect and in order to meet the objection the following amendment is suggested which may take the place of clause 6 of the Draft Instrument as circulated to the states —

"Nothing in this Instrument affects the continuance of my sovereignty in and over this state or, save as provided by this Instrument or by any law of the Federal Legislature made in accordance therewith the continuance of any of my powers.

The Committee desire to add that the inclusion of the term "reserved," as suggested both in the present clause and in the one proposed in the draft of July 9, is important. The term was included in the Government drafts of February and March, 1935

P otection of rights—Clause II of the states' draft of July 9, 1936 had for its object, the protection of treats and other rights within the Federal schere which could be affected by Federal Legislation outside the state. The clause provided for an additional Schedule which would enumerate such rights

The objection has been raised—(a) that the Instrument cannot deal with matters outside the state, and (b) that in any case the right of the Federal Legislature to legislate in British India or outside the state cannot be fettered by the Instrument of Accession of a state

Further, section 12 (1) (g) of the Government of India Act has been referred to as affording protection for such rights in the Governor-General's discretion. Article XV of the Instrument of Instructions to the Governor-General, however, makes it clear that protection under section 12 (1) (g) is intended to cover rights in the non-Federal sphere.

The Committee are not wedded to the form in which the protection is afforded, but share the view expressed by the Informal Committee of Ministers in their letter to Sir Bertrand Glancy, No 68 CC dated lanuary 21, 1937, that the protection should be legal While leaving it to the Government of India to suggest the form in which such legal protection may be given, it is felt that the object may be gained by recourse to agree.

ments, such as those contemplated under section 204 (1) (a) (iii), between the Federation and the state which may specially be made subject to the jurisdiction of the Federal Court.

Federal Executive.—On the question of Administration, the Committee desire to explain that Federal executive authority in relation to items to which a state accedes is dealt with in five different ways in the Act and the proposed Instrument. The basic assumption as made clear in Clause 3 (2) of the Government Draft Instrument is that where there is a limitation on legislative authority there will be limitation on the executive authority.

- (a) An absolute limitation upon executive authority under section 6 (2)
- (b) An administrative agreement under section 125
- (c) An entrusting of duties under section 124 (1) conditionally or otherwise with the consent of the Ruler.
- (d) A conferment or imposition of duties under section 124 (3) for which under section 124 (4) a financial compensation shall be payable.
- (e) Where the Federal executive authority obtains, but is not exercised, concurrent executive authority will be exercisable by the states, section 8 (2).

Limitation.—The admissibility of a limitation upon Federal executive authority under section 6 (2) of the Act may possibly be questioned and it might be urged that in any case such a limitation was unlikely to be acceptable since it would exclude the possibility of the Governor-General in his discretion satisfying himself by inspection or otherwise that administration was being carried out in accordance with the Federal policy.

The Committee take the view that on the wording of the Act and particularly of section 8 (1) (ii) the admissibility of arr authority and rights, and the exercise of any of such powers, authority and rights in and over this state is, save as above, reserved to me "

The Committee desire to add that the inclusion of the term "reserved," as suggested both in the present clause and in the one proposed in the draft of July 9: is important. The term was included in the Government drafts of February and March. 1935.

Protection of rights.—Clause II of the states' draft of July 9, 1936, bad for its object, the protection of treaty and other rights within the Federal sphere which could be affected by Federal Legislation outside the state. The clause provided for an additional Schedule which would enumerate such rights.

The objection has been raised—(a) that the Instrument cannot deal with matters outside the state, and (b) that in any case the right of the Federal Legislature to legislate in British India or outside the state cannot be fettered by the Instrument of Accession of a state.

Further, section 12 (1) (g) of the Government of India Act has been referred to as affording protection for such rights in the Governor-General's discretion Article XV of the Instrument of Instructions to the Governor-General, however, makes it clear that protection under section 12 (1) (g) is intended to cover rights in the non-Federal sphere.

The Committee are not wedded to the form in which the protection is afforded, but share the view expressed by the Informal Committee of Ministers in their letter to Sir Bertrand Glancy, No. 68 CC dated January 21, 1937, that the protection should be legal. While Jeaving it to the Government of India to suggest the form in which such legal protection may be given, it is felt that the object may be gained by recourse to agree ments, such as those contemplated under section 204 (1) (a) (iii), between the Federation and the state which may specially be made subject to the jurisdiction of the Federal Court.

Federal Executive.—On the question of Administration, the Committee desire to explain that Federal executive authority in relation to items to which a state accedes is dealt with in five different ways in the Act and the proposed Instrument. The basic assumption as made clear in Clause 3 (2) of the Government Draft Instrument is that where there is a limitation on legislative authority there will be limitation on the executive authority.

- (a) An absolute limitation upon executive authority under section 6 (2)
- (b) An administrative agreement under section 125
- (c) An entrusting of duties under section 124 (1) conditionally or otherwise with the consent of the Ruler.
- (d) A conferment or imposition of duties under section 124 (3) for which under section 124 (4) a financial compensation shall be payable.
- (e) Where the Federal executive authority obtains, but is not exercised, concurrent executive authority will be exercisable by the states, section 8 (2).

Limitation.—The admissibility of a limitation upon Federal executive authority under section 6 (2) of the Act may possibly be questioned and it might be urged that in any case such a limitation was unlikely to be acceptable since it would exclude the possibility of the Governor-General in his discretion satisfying himself by inspection or otherwise that administration was being carried out in accerdance with the Federal policy.

The Committee take the view that on the wording of the Act and particularly of section 8 (1) (ii) the admissibility of an executive limitation under section 6 (2) is clear.

Moreover, one of the main reasons why the states objected to the original form of clause 6 in the Bill, as presented to Parliament, was that it did not permit of executive limitations differing from the legislative limitations and it was to meet this point that section 6 (2) was amended to its present form.

The Committee, therefore, considered that any rejection on principle of executive limitations should be questioned by the states. At the same time, the Committee would agree that a provision in the Administrative Agreement is generally a more suitable method of executive limitations than section 6 (2). It is thought that each case in which such limitations are proposed ought to be examined on its merits.

The method of providing for executive reservations by an Administrative Agreement under section 125, is, however, recommended only where such reservation is intended or nossible and each state will have to consider the choice for itself, bearing in mind both the requirements of Federal standards and of financing the administration wherever so reserved. Similarly, each state will have to determine what items to cover by administrative agreements.

Where there is no such reservation either under section 6 (2) or under section 125, Federal executive authority will be exercised by the Federation either under section 124 (1) or under section 124 (3) and, if under the two above sections neither the Governor-General entrusts to the Ruler nor the Federal Legislature by an 'Act confers or imposes duties, the concurrent authority of the state, as already explained, will continue to be exercised under section 6 (2), unless the Federation prefers to implant its own Federal authority within the state.

Reservations.-The Committee have examined the items in the Federal Legislative List with a view to suggesting (a) reservations applicable to the generality of states and (b) reservations which the Committee considered it to be necessary for protecting special interest.

They have also formulated general limitations applicable to several items and concerning such matters as land acquisition, discrimination so far as taxation is concerned and the liability of Federal Agents and Officers to the jurisdiction of the laws of the states

In suggesting these limitations the Committee desire to make it clear that each state will have to determine the limitations under which it proposes to accept each item as it will no doubt have to consider its own individual requirements. Nor can the Committee take any responsibility for the form of the limitations suggested and it would be for each state to take competent legal advice as to see what particular form is best suited for its ends.

The Committee endorse the view expressed in the Hydera bad Memorandum, paragraph 36, which tavours the strengthening of Clause XV of the Governor General's Instrument of Instructions so as to permit the Governor-General's intervention in less serious cases of discrimination than those which may necessarily emperil the economic life of a state

Paramountey—The Committee recognise that the present occasion may not be convenient for a discussion of the present question of Paramountey, but they would recommend that the question may in its relation to Federation be taken up in the not too distant future—The advantage of rather clarifying the practice governing the exercise of Paramountey was recognised by the Secretary of State in his Despatch of March 14, 1936—It is difficult to believe that the exercise of Paramountey will not be affected by Federation and a question of no little moment may

Moreover, there is undoubtedly some nervousness amongst Rulers lest they may find themselves faced, even within the Federal field, by the double power of the Federation itself and Paramountcy The states' understanding is that, broadly speaking, where the Federation carr, if it wishes, exercise authority, the claim of the Paramount Power to intervene disappears

The Committee recognise that Paramountcy is the ultimate sanction for en'orcing Federal obligations, but they assume that a state will be entitled, before Paramountcy intervenes, to have those obligations determined in the Federal Court

Reliance on Viceroy —Perhaps the states' general thesis could best be expressed by saying that they rely on the Viceroy as the representative of His Majesty in his special and personal relation ship with the states, being the 'riend of the states and not in any sense an agent of the Federation

This special relationship with His Majesty is very precious to the states and they are concerned to ensure that at some future date the relationship is not weakened by the fact that the Viceroy is also Governor General

It can hardly be denied that the duality of personality existing in the person who is both Governor General and Representative of His Myesty in his relations with Indian States, has in its some elements of danger. Federal responsibilities will necessful engross the greater part of his time and the distinction between his two personalities could without difficulty become blurred. If it did happen to become blurred, the Federal personality would almost certainly become dominant.

Separation of functions - Perhaps, one step which could usefully be taken to avoid the dangers, which the states foresecwould be to recognise that this duality of personality should not be repeated in the Political Service. A Resident in a state for instance, should be the Agent of His Majesty's Representative, but never the Agent of the Governor General, and such a separation of functions appears to be correct in theory and necessary in practice.

It obviously might prove of great inconvenience to confine the Resident to the Paramountcy side, if this would render necessary the existence of another officer as Agent of the Governor-General It appears, however, that there is no room for such an agent

There will be no Agent of the Governor-General in a province Such instructions as the Federation is entitled to give a province will be given by the Governor-General to the Governor as head of the Province.

Similarly, it would seem that such instructions as the Federal Government is entitled to give should be given by the Governor-General to the department of the state concerned

- (3) It shall be lawful for His Majesty to appoint one person to fill both the said offices

Direct relations with the Crown

The Princes had pressed their view point before the Indian States Committee that their treaties were with the Crown and that the relation thus established could not be transferred to a new Government without The Butler Committee accepted this claim of the Princes and section a of the Covernment of India Act to 5 is hased on the above recorn tion

Differentiation of functions of Governor General and Vicerov

The Joint Committee while differentiating the functions of Governor

General and Viceroy observed as follows -

"We have spoken above of the rights, authority and jurisdiction of But the Crown the Crown in and over the territories of British India also possesses rights authority and jurisdiction elsewhere in India including those rights which are comprehended under the name of paramountey All these are at present exercised on behalf of under the general control of the Secretary of State, by the Governor General in Council and it will be necessary that they should also be resumed in their entirety into the bands of the Crown clearly they cannot under the new Constitution be exercised on behalf of the Crown by any federal authority save in so far as they fall within the federal sphere and only then when they affect a State which has acceded The White Paper proposes that (subject to to the Federation exception which we have mentioned) they should in future be exercised by the representative of the Crown in his capacity as Vicerov, and that, in order to put the distinction beyond doubt the office of Governor-General should be severed from that of Vicerov We here with what we conceive to be the principle underlying this proposal, but we are not clear that the method employed to give effect to it is entirely appropriate We agree that there must be a legal differentiation of functions in the future, and it may well be that H's Majesty will be pleased to constitute two But we assume that the two offices separate offices for this purpose will continue to be held by the same person and this being so, we think that the title of Vicerov should attach to him in his double capacity. This suggestion involves no departure from the underlying principle of the White Paper that outside the federal sphere the States' relations will be exclusively with the Crown and that the right to tender advice to the Crown in this regard will lie with His Majesty's Government "1

4 There shall be a Commander in-Chief of His Majesty's Forces in India appointed by Warrant under the Royal Sign Manual,

THE FEDERATION OF INDIA

CHAPTER I

Establishment of Federation and Accession of Indian States

5-(1) It shall be lawful for His Majesty, if an address in Proclama that behalf has been presented to him by each House of Parlia Federation ment and if the condition hereinafter mentioned is satisfied, to declare by Proclamation that as from the day therein appointed there shall be united in a Federation under the Crown, by the name of the Federation of India -

- (a) the Provinces hereinafter called Governors' Provinces. and
- (b) the Indian States which have acceded or may thereafter accede to the Federation.

and in the Federation so established there shall be included the Provinces bereinafter called Chief Commissioners' Provinces

- (2) The condition referred to is that States-
 - (a) the Rulers whereof will, in accordance with the provisions contained in Part II of the First Schedule to this Act, be entitled to choose not less than fifty-two members of the Council of State, and
 - (b) the aggregate population whereof, as ascertained in accordance with the said provisions, amounts to at least one half of the total population of the States as so ascertained.

have acceded to the Federation

NOTES

Federation

The competence of the federal authorities will be derived from Patl i ment only so far as the British Ind in Provinces are concerned, whereas the authority of the I ederation over the acceding states will be derived from the Crown as district from Parliament. The procedure as laid down in the Act is that the Rulers who decide to accede to the I ederation should vest in the Crown certain powers and jurisd ction which the latter would place at the disposal of the Federation for exercise over those Rulers and their States.

Accession of sufficient number of States a condition precedent to Federation

We regard the States as an essential element in an All Inda Prederation but a Lederation which comprised the Provinces and only an insign ficant number of the States would scarcely be deserving of the name. This is recognised in the White Paper where it is proposed that the Federation shall be brought into existence by the issue of a Proclamation by His Majesty but that no such Proclamation shall be issued until the Rulers of States representing, not less than half the aggregate population if the States and entitled to not less than half the sents to be allotted to the States in the Federal Upper Chamber have signified to His Majesty their desire to accede to the Lederation.

- 6—(I) A State shall be deemed to have acceded to the Federation if His Majesty has signified his acceptance of an Instrument of Accession executed by the Ruler thereof, whereby the Ruler for himself his heirs and successors—
 - (a) declares that he accedes to the Federation as established under this Act with the intent that His Majesty the King, the Governor General of India, the Federal Legislature, the Federal Court and any other Federal authority established for the pur poses of the Federation shall, by virtue of his Instrument of Accession, but subject always to the terms thereof, and for the purposes only of the Federation exercise in relation to his State such functions as may be vested in them by or under this Act, and
 - (b) assumes the obligation of ensuring that due effect is given within his State to the provisions of this

² Para 157, page 68 J C Report

Act so fer as they are applicable therein by virtue of his Instrument of Accession

Provided that an Instrument of Accession may be executed conditionally on the establishment of the Federation on or before a specified date, and in that case the State shall not be deemed to have acceded to the Federation if the Federation is not established until after that date.

- (2) An Instrument of Accession shall specify the matters which the Ruler accepts as matters with respect to which the Federal Legislature may make laws for his State, and the limitations, if any, to which the power of the Federal Legislature to make laws for his State and the exercise of the executive authority of the Federation in his State, are respectively to be subject.
- (3) A Ruler may by a supplementary Instrument executed by him and accepted by His Majestv vary the Instrument of Accession of his State by extending the functions which by virtue of that Instrument are exercisable by His Majesty or any Federal Authority in relation to his State
- (4) Nothing in this section shall be construed as requiring His Majesty to accept any Instrument of Accession or supple mentary Instrument unless he considers it proper so to do or as empowering His Majesty to accept any such Instrument if it appears to him that the terms thereof are inconsistent with the scheme of Federation embodied in this Act

Provided that after the establishment of the Federation if any Instrument has in fact been accepted by His Majesty the validity of that Instrument or of any of its provisions shall not be called in question and the provisions of this Act shall, in relation to the State, have effect subject to the provisions of the Instrument

(5) It shall be a term of every. Instrument of Accession that the provisions of this Act mentioned in the Second Schedule thereto may, without affecting the accession of the State, be amended by or by authority of Parliament, but no such amendment shall, unless it is accepted by the Ruler in a supplementary Instrument, be construed as extending the functions which by virtue of the Instrument are exercisable by His Majesty or any Federal Authority in relation to the State

- (6) An Instrument of Accession or supplementary Instrument shall not be valid unless it is executed by the Ruler himself but subject as aforesaid, references in this Act to the Ruler of a State include references to any persons for the time being exercising the powers of the Ruler of the State, whether by reason of the Ruler s minority or for any other reason
- (7) After the establishment of the Federation the request of a Ruler that his State may be admitted to the Federation shall be transmitted to His Majesty through the Governor General, and after the expiration of twenty years from the establishment of the Federation the Governor General, shall not transmit to His Majesty any such request until there has been presented to him by each Chainber of the Federal Legislature, for submission to His Majesty an address praying that His Majesty may be pleased to admit the State into the Federation.
- (8) In this Act a State which has acceded to the Federation is referred to as a Federated State, and the Instrument by virtue of which a State has so acceded, construed together with any supplementary Instrument executed under this section, is referred to as the Instrument of Accession of that State
- (9) As soon as may be after any Instrument of Accession or supplementary Instrument has been accepted by His Majesty under this section, copies of the Instrument and of His Majesty's Acceptance thereof shall be laid before Parliament, and all S 6 Courts shall take judicial notice of every such Instrument and Acceptance.

VOTES

Accession of Indian States

The Princes desired that the Instrument of Accession should be blackered agreement of the character of a trenty. Sir Samuel House the Secretary of Stite for Ind a however declined to recignise that this instrument was a trenty. He said These instruments are blitteral in so far as they have in binding, force until His Majesty has a bilderal in society of them. But His Majesty's Government cannot on that ground except they are to be described as treaties. Such rights and obligations as flow far the execution and exceptance of in Instrument of Accession and Immittations set out in the Instrument f which the Act makes provision. The Crown assumes no 6b attorn by article of its acceptance of the Instrument of Accession is the Act.

The Instrument of Acession is now provided fir in the Act is a declaration by a Ruler which on acceptance by His Majesty ipso factor brings the Ruler into the scheme of the Federal Constitution.

Instruments should, as far as possible follow a standard form

"It would, we think be very desirable that the Instruments of Accession should in all cases be in the same form though we re, since that the list of subjects accepted by the Ruler is I (deril may in a be identical in the case of every State. Questions may arise hereafter which re the I ederal Government or the I ederal I eg, shatire were competed in relating to a particular State to discretian things of a make certical raises and the I relevant Court have be called upon to promounly upon it can in I it would in our opinion be very unfortunate if the Court found as it is impetted in may case to base as decisa in upon some expression for phaseses, a period to the Instrument under review and not found in other Instruments. teserve subjects which appear in what we may perhaps describe as the standard list of Federal subjects in relation to the States cught to be invited to justify the exception or reservation before his accession is ac cepted by the Crown We do not doubt that there are States which will be able to male out a good case for the exception or reservation of certain subjects some by reason of existing treats rights others because they have long enjoyed speral privileges (as for example in connection with postal arrangements and even currency or comage) in matters which will henceforward be the concern of the Federation, but in our judgment it is important that deviations from the standard list should be regarded in all cases is exceptional and not be admitted as of course. We do not need to say that the accession of all States to the Federation will be welcome but there can be no obligation on the Crown to accept an accession where the exceptions or reservations sought to be made by the Ruler are such as to male the accession illusors OF colourable 4

Rulers Instruments of Accession.

It is proposed that the Ruler of a State shall signify to the Crown in willingness to accede to the Federation by executing an Instrument of Access a and this Instrument (whatever form it may take) will we assume enable the powers and jurisdiction of the Ruler, in respect of those matters which he has agreed to recognise as Federal subjects, to be exercised by the Iederal authorities brought into existence by the Constituin Actitation is to say the Governor General the Federal Legislature and the Federal Court but strictly within the limits defined by the Instrument of Accession. Outside these limits the autonomy of the States and their relations with the Crown will not be affected in any way by the Constitution Actitate Proposition in the Accession of the States and their relations with the Crown will not be affected in any way by the Constitution Actitate White Piper to which we have already driving attention and we understand the hope of His Myesta's Government to be that Rulers who accede will in general be willing to accept items it to 45 cf. I st. I as federal subjects.

Sub section (3)

The only variation of in Instrument of Accession permissible under this sub-section is variation to extend the federal powers. The Act does not provide for the resumption by a Ruler whether by agreement or otherwise, of a subject once surrendered to the Federation. This will certainly help in the expansion of the Federal Jurisdiction and might in course of time result in the establishment of a fully National Government in the whole of India.

⁴ I ita 1 f pare 87 JC Report 5 I na 155 p gi 86 JC Report

Sub-section (9); amendment of the Constitution.

Each Instrument of Accession must provide that a number of provisions of the Act in Schedule II may be amended without affecting the accession of the state, but no such amendment, unless accented by a supplementary instrument may extend the functions evereisable by any authority in respect of the state. In view of the improbability of any early amendment of the exempted portions by Parliament, the provision is probably of no immediate importance, but it may well prove to raise very difficult questions, should it later be desired to after the provisions excepted from the general rule. Thus apparently any change as regard the position of the Governor-General towards the issue of external affairs and defence would not be consistent with the positions of the The Act is silent as to the position in such an event, it would certainly be open to any state to argue that such action was equivalent to a breach of the Instrument of Accession but there is no legal means provided under which the state could attain redress. On the other hand from the point of view of British India it may seem that a complete bar to full responsibility is presented *

Position elucidated.

To Lieut-General His Evalted Highness Asaf Jah Muzaffar-ul-Mulk wat Mematik, Nizam-ul-Mulk Nizam ud Daula, Nawab Sir Mr Usmii Mi Khin, Bahadur, Lateh Jang, Faithful Ally of the British Government, GCSI, GBE, Nizam of Hyderabad (Decean).

My honoured and valued friend,

I have it in command from His Majesty the King, Emperor of India to address Your Ex Ited Highness in connexion with the new Agreement dated the twenty-fourth October 1936, regarding the future administration of Berar, with a view to educating the position, and so preventing the occurrence of an future misunderstanding

His Mijesty has been unwilling to insert in the Agreement anything which might appear to contemplate the probability of its determination, or, as a necessary consequence, to include provisions for the future regulation in that event of Berar Nevertheless, in order that there may be no room for doubt, His. Majesty thinks it right to state that Hickners into the Agreement upon the clear understanding that, if by reason of any circumstance in the future it should unfortunitely come to an end His Majesty may in default of or pending a new Agreement make such arrangements for the administration of Berar, notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the Treaties of 1853 and 1860, as He may deem destrible and may exercise full and exclusive jurisdiction and authority therein I am, however, to make it plain that this would not in any way affect the recognition of the sovereignty of Your Fynlted Highness over Berar nor the payment of the sum of twenty-five lakhs of rupees per annum, nor any of the military guarantees which under existing Irenties Your Explied Highness at present enjoys, nor would Majesty regard Himself as intitled, without the consent of Your Fyalted Highness, to make any arrangement for the administration of Berar upor a basis essentially different from that which exists at the present time

I desire to express the high consideration which I entertain for Your Explied Highness and to subscribe myself

Your I valted Highness' sincere friend,

LINLITHGOW.

Vicerov and Governor-General of India

The Bernes have an interesting history. I ong ago when India was in chaos. Hyderabad bound itself by treaty to pay the cost of a force maintained for its defence by the I ist India Company. As generally happened under that kind of agreement payment fell into arrears and when Lord Dalhousie was Governor General, the Ber irs were assigned to the Company to settle the bill. They were administered as a sepa rate unit for the next fifty years but in 1902 the Nizim leased them n perpetuity to the Central Provinces The Treaty now continues the annual payment of Rs 2, lakhs to His Evalted Highness and provides that the arrangements for the modern equivalent of the f mous Hyderabad Contingent shall be maintained For this satis factors end of a long and often bitter controversy the credit must be given to many on both sides on the Hyderabid side especially to Sir Akbar Hydar y ho has proved himself a competent diplomatist

By the agreement of October 24 1936 between His Minesty the king Imperor and His I valid Highness the Nizim of Hyderabid the tuture of Ber ir which has been the subject of anxious controversy for over thirty years has been amicably settled and the sovereignty of His Exalted Highness the Nizam in the territory has been unquestionably By reason of the peculiar circumstances in which Berry come to be administrered a other parts of British India, the system of condominium hid down by the agreement was inevitable. It does not completely uproot the administration established in the territory in the course of eights three years of its connection with British India administrative purposes. Berar will be both an Indian State, but a State which has ilready acceded to Tederation with the concurrence of its sovereign. His I vilted Highness the Nizum. and a province of British In this respect. Berar will occupy a unique position among the States in the Federation of the future The people of Berar will have a dual political personality they will have all the advantages which others in the Nizim's Domin ons possess and all the rights and privileges of the federating units in Lederal Ind it. There will be no disturbance n the actual routine of the administration in Berar but the functions exercised in Berar by the Governor of the Central Provinces and Berar will be exercised by the Governor by virtue of the assent of His Exalted Highness the Nizam to the agreement of condominium. To make the sovereignty of His I valted Highness the Nizam complete in Berar, not unk will His Farlted Highness have the right to maintain in agent at the seit of Government of the Central Provinces and Berar, but Exalted Highness will also be consulted in the appointment of

Governor of the Central Fronces and Berar This settlement of a question which has been the source of great concern both to the Government of India and His Failted Highness the Nizim is particularly satisfactors in sixu of the approaching constitutional changes

PROTECTION OF THE RIGHTS OF INDIAN STATES AND THE RIGHTS AND DIGNITY OF THE RULERS THEREOF

- 52 —(1) In the exercise of his functions the Governor shall have the following special responsibilities, that is to say
 - (a) the prevention of any grave menace to the peace or tranquility of the Province or any part thereof,
 - (b) the safeguarding of the legitimate interests of minorities,
 - (c) the securing to, and to the dependants of persons who are or have been members of the public services of any rights provided or preserved for them by or under this Act, and the safeguarding of their legitimate interests,
 - (d) the securing in the sphere of executive action of the purposes which the provisions of chapter III of Part V of this Act are designed to secure in relation to legislation,
 - (e) the securing of the peace and good government of areas which by or under the provisions of this Part of this Act are declared to be partially excluded areas,
 - (f) the protection of the rights of any Indian State and the rights and dignity of the Ruler thereof, and
 - (g) the securing of the execution of orders or directions lawfully issued to him under Part VI of this Act by the Governor-General in his discretion
- (2) The Governor of the Central Provinces and Berar shall also have the special responsibility of securing that a reasonable share of the revenues of the Province is expended in or for the benefit of Berar, the Governor of any Province which includes an excluded area shall also have the special responsibility of securing that the due discharge of his functions in respect of excluded areas is not prejudiced or impeded by any course of action taken with respect to any other matter, any Governor who is discharging any functions as agent for the Governor-General shall also have the special responsibility of securing that the due discharge of those functions is not prejudiced or impeded by any course of action taken with respect to any other matter and the Governor of Sind shall also have the special responsibility of securing the proper administration of the Lloyd Barrage and Canals Scheme.

(3) If and in so far as any special responsibility of the Governor is involved, he shall, in the exercise of his functions, exercise his individual judgment as to the action to be taken.

NOTES

Sub-section (2).

The Joint Select Committee while discussing this subject observed as follows --

"It has come to our notice that, under the system of joint administration of the Districts known as the Berars with the Central Provinces which has obtained for many years, and which, as we have already pointed out," will continue in another form under the new Constitution, there has been a tendency on the part of the inhabitants of the Berars, and of their representatives in the Legislature, to criticise the apportionment of expenditure between the two areas forming the joint Province as favouring unduly the Central Provinces area to the disadvantage of the Berars. We express no opinion as to the justification for such criticisms, but it is evident that, under a system of responsible government, the scope for grievances on this account may well be increased. We think, therefore, that the Governor of the joint Province should have imposed upon him a special responsibility and should thus be enabled to counteract any proposals of his. Ministry which he regards as likely to give justifiable ground for complaint on this account.

ing to usurp the functions of the draftsman, we suggest that the purpose we have in view would be, idequately expressed in defining the special responsibility in some such terms as —

'The expenditure in the Berars of a reasonable share of the revenues raised for the joint purposes of the Bearers and the Central Provinces

We think, moreover, that the Governor might appropriately be directed in his Instrument of Instructions to constitute some impartial bods to advise him on the principles which should be followed in the distribution of revenues, if he is not satisfied that past practice affords an adequate guide for his Ministers and himself for the discharge of the special responsibility imposed upon him in tespect of them. We also think that the special position of the Berars should be recognised by requiring the Governor through his Instrument of Instructions, to interpret his special responsibility for "the protection of the rights of any Indian State is involving inter alia an obligation upon him, in the administration of the Refars, to have due regard to the commercial and economic interests of the State of Hyderabad "9"

Taxes on income -

We understind this to refer to taxes of the nature of the existing Corporation Tax which is a supertax on the profits of companies is proposed that the Federation should retain the yield of this tax and that after ten years the tax should be extended to the States, a right being reserved to any State which prefers that companies subject to the law of the State should not be directly taxed to pay itself to the federal fise an equivalent lump sum contribution. We appreciate the desire of the States for this measure of elasticity and feel bound to accept it, though we must observe that the details of the arrangement with the States seem likely to be complex and that the adoption of the alternative procedure is economically understrable 11

NOTES.

Letters of Request-

of the Federal Legislaure

The Rulers insisted upon the method of Letters of Request firstly because of the dightic attacked to them is soveragos—and seconds because they did not like an outside tribunal to have direct relations with their own Courts.

The Parliamentary Joint Select Committee while discussing this matter observed as follows ---

"It was urged before us that to permit a Itigant

a State Court to apply to the Federal leave to appeal if the State Court had already refused leave would be to derogate from the sovereignty of the Rule of the State, and that the refusal of a State Court to grant leave to appeal at any rate in a case concerning the nterp ctitim of I ederil laws should be treated as final We should much regret the inclusion of a provision of this kind appellate jurisdiction of the Lederal Court so Lir as regards an Indian State arises from the voluntary act of the Ruler himself vi his acces sion to the Lederation the jurisdiction is in no sense imposed on him This being so and since it is proposed that all appeals to the rederal Court should be in the form of a Special Case to be stated by the Court appealed from we thal the position of the States would be ap propriately safeg a ded if it were provided that the granting of leave to appeal by the Federal Court were n the form of Letters of Request directed to the Ruler of the State to be transmitted by him to the Court concerned

208 -- An appeal may be brought to His Majesty in Council from a decision of the Federal Court-

- (a) from any judgment of the Federal Court given in the exercise of its original jurisdiction in any dispute which concerns the interpretation of this Act or of an Order in Council made thereunder, or the extent of the legislative or executive authority vested in the Federation by virtue of the Instrument of Accession of any State, or arises under an agreement made under Part VI of this Act in relation to the admiris tration in any State of a law of the Federal Legis lature, without leave, and
 - (b) in any other case, by leave of the Federal Court or of His Majesty in Council

NOTES

Leave to appeal to Privy Council -

It may be assumed that in granting special leave the Privy Councl will act on its usual principle and grant leave munity where some important question of law or matter of public interest is involved 7

The principles upon which the Judenil Committee have acted in granting special leave to appeal from the Supreme Court of the Dom mon of Canada were stated thus in Prince v Gagnon -18

Para 32. J C Report Prince: Gagnon (1832) 8 App Cas 103 (1882) 8 App Cas 103

"Their Lordsh ps are not prepared to advise Her Majesty to exercise Ss. 209her prerogative by admitting an appeal to Her Majesty in Council from the Supreme Court of the Dominion, save where the case is of gravity involving matters of public interest or some important question of law, or affecting property of considerable amount or where the case is otherwise of some public importance or of a very substantial character "

"We may perhaps point out," said the Joint Select Committee in their Report, "that the jurisdiction of the Privy Council in relation to the States will be based upon the voluntary act of Rulers themselves, i.e. there Instruments of Accession

209 -(1) The Federal Court shall, where it allows appeal, remit the case to the court from which the appeal was judgment brought with a declaration as to the judgment, decree or order which is to be substituted for the judgment, decree or order appealed against, and the court from which the appeal was brought shall give effect to the decision of the Federal Court

- (2) Where the Federal Court upon any appeal makes any order as to the costs of the proceedings in the Federal Court. it shall, as soon as the amount of the costs to be paid is ascertained. transmit its order for the payment of that sum to the court from which the appeal was brought and that court shall give effect to the order.
- (3) The Federal Court may, subject to such terms or conditions as it may think fit to impose order a stay of execution in any case under appeal to the Court, pending the hearing of the appeal, and execution shall be staved accordingly.

and any such orders, and any orders of the Federal Court as to the costs of and incidental to any proceedings therein, shall be enforceable by all courts and authorities in every part of British India or of any Federated State as if they were orders duly made by the highest court exercising civil or criminal jurisdiction as the case may be, in that part

- (3) Nothing in this section—
 - (a) shall apply to any such order with respect to costs as is mentioned in subsection (2) of the last preceding section, or
 - (b) shall, as regards a Federated State, apply in relation to any jurisdiction exercisable by the Federal Court by reason only of the making by the Federal Legis lature of such provision as is mentioned in this chapter for enlarging the appellate jurisdiction of the Federal Court
- 211 Where in any case the Federal Court require a special case to be stated or re stated by, or remit a case to, or order a stay of execution in a case from, a High Court in a Federated State or require the aid of the civil or judicial authorities in a Federated State, the Federal Court shall cause letters of request in that behalf to be sent to the Ruler of the State, and the Ruler shall cause such communication to be made to the High Court or to any judicial or civil authority as the circumstances may require
- 212 The law declared by the Federal Court and by any judgment of the Privy Council shall, so far as applicable, be recognised as binding on, and shall be followed by, all courts in British India, and, so far as respects the application and interpretation of this Act or any Order in Council thereunder or any matter with respect to which the Federal Legislature has power to make laws in relation to the State, in any Federated State

But it is not understood what judicial means would be available to the Pederal Court to prevent its rulings being ignored or misapplied in the Courts of a Federated State

213—(1) If at any time it appears to the Governor General Powers of that a question of law has arisen, or is likely to arise which is of General to such a nature and of such public importance that it is expedient Federal to obtain the opinion of the Federal Court upon it, he may in his Court discretion refer the question to that court for consideration, and the court may, after such hearing as they think fit, report to the Covernor General thereon

B -IN REGARD TO THE EXECUTIVE AUTHORITY OF THE PROVINCE

VII Our Governor shall do all that in him lies to maintain standards of good administration, to encourage religious tole ration, co operation and goodwill among all classes and creeds and to promote all measures making for moral, social and econo mic welfare, and tending to fit all classes of the population to take their due share in the public life and government of the Province

VIII In making appointments to his Council of Ministers Our Governor shall use his best endeavours to select his Ministers in the following manner that is to say, in consultation with the person who in his judgment is likely to command a stable majority in the Legislature to appoint those persons (including so far as practicable members of important minority communities) who will best be in a position collectively to command the con fidence of the Legislature But, in so acting, he shall bear constantly in mind the need for fostering a sense of joint responsibility among his Ministers

IX In all matters within the scope of the executive authority of the Province, save in relation to functions which he is required by the said Act to exercise in his discretion. Our Governor shall in the exercise of the powers conferred upon him be guided by the advice of his Ministers, unless in his opinion so to be guided would be inconsistent with the fulfilment of any of the special responsibilities which are by the said Act committed to him, or with the proper discharge of any of the functions which he is otherwise by the said Act required to exercise on his individual judgment in any of which cases Our Governor shall not withstanding his Ministers' advice, act in exercise of the powers.

by the said Act conferred upon him in such manner as to his individual judgment seems requisite for the due discharge of the responsibilities and functions aforesaid But he shall be studious so to exercise his powers as not to enable his Ministers to rely upon his special responsibilities in order to relieve themselves of responsibilities which are properly their own

X Our Governor shall interpret his special responsibility for the safeguarding of the legitimate interests of minorities as requiring him to secure, in general, that those racial or religious communities for the members of which special representation is accorded in the Legislature, and those classes of the people committed to his charge who, whether on account of the smallness of their number or their lack of educational or material advantages or from any other cause, cannot as yet fully rely for their welfare upon joint political action in the Legislature shall not suffer, or have reasonable cause to fear, neglect or oppression But he shall not regard as entitled to his protection any body of persons by reason only that they share a view on a particular question which has not found favour with the majority

Further, Our Governor shall interpret the said special responsibility as requiring him to secure a due proportion of appointments in Our Services to the several commurities, and so far as there may be in his Province at the date of issue of these Our Instructions an accepted policy in this regard, he shall be guided thereby, unless he is fully satisfied that modification of that policy is essential in the interests of the communities affected or of the welfare of the public

XI In the discharge of his special responsibility for the securing to members of the public services of any rights provided for them by or under the said Act and the safeguarding of their legitimate interests Our Governor shall be careful to safeguard the members of Our Services not only in any rights provided for them by or under the said Act or any other law for the time being in force, but also against any action which, in his judgment, would be inequitable

XII The special responsibility of Our Governor for securing in the sphere of executive action any of the purposes which the provisions of Chapter III of Part V of the said Act are design ed to secure in relation to legislation shall be construed by him as requiring him to differ from his Ministers if in his individual judgment their advice would have effects of the kind which it is the purpose of the said Chapter to prevent, even though the advice so tendered to him is not in conflict with any specific provision of the said Act

XIII Our Governor shall construe his special responsibility for the protection of the rights of any Indian State as requiring him to see that no action shall be taken by his Ministers, and no Bill of the Provincial Legislature shall become law, which would imperil the economic life of any State, or affect prejudicially any right of any State heretofore or hereafter recognised,* whe ther derived from treaty, grant, usage, sufferance or otherwise not being a right appertaining to a matter with respect to which, in virtue of the Ruler's Instrument of Accession, the Federal Legislature may make laws for his State and his subjects and he shall refer to Our Governor-General any questions which may arise as to the existence of any such right

*XIV If an Agreement is made with His Exalted High hess the Nizam of Hyderabad as contemplated in Part III of the said Act, Our Governor shall interpret his special responsibility for the safeguarding of the rights of any Indian State as also requiring him in the administration of Berar to have due regard to the commercial and economic interests of the State of Hyderabad

^{*}The procedure for the determination of the right in case of a di pute rests with the Grown's representative for the conduct of relations with the States. This paragraph will be included in the instrument of instructions to the Governor of the Central Promess and Berar only.

Further, if Our Governor is at any time of opinion that the policy hitherto in force affords to him no satisfactory guidance in the interpretation of his special responsibility for securing that a reasonable share of the revenues of his Province is expended in or for the benefit of Berar he shall, if he deems it expedient, fortify himself with advice from a body of experienced and unbiased persons whom he may appoint for the purpose of recommending what changes in policy would be suitable and equitable

XV In the framing of rules for the regulation of the business of the Provincial Government Our Governor shall ensure that, amongst other provisions for the effective discharge of that business due provision is made that the Minister in charge of the Finance Department shall be consulted upon any proposal by any other Minister which affects the finances of the Province and further that no reappropriation within a Grant shall be made by any Department otherwise than after consultation with the Finance Minister and that in any case in which the Finance Minister does not concur in any such proposal the matter shall be brought for decision before the Council of Ministers

XVI Having regard to the powers conferred by the said Act upon Our Secretary of State to appoint persons to Our service if, in his opinion, circumstances arise which render it necessary for him so to do in order to secure efficiency in irrigation, Our Governor shall make it his care to see that he is kept constantly supplied with information as to the conduct of irrigation in his Province in order that he may, if need be, place this information at the disposal of Our Governor General

*XVII Our Governor shall bear constantly in mind the danger to India as a whole of any failure to maintain peace and

^{*}This paragraph will be included in the Listructions to the Governor of the Aortl West Frontier Province only security on the North-West Frontier. He shall, therefore, in the exercise of the executive authority of the Province, constantly have regard to the due discharge of his functions as Agent to Our Governor-General in respect of the tribal areas situate between the frontiers of India and the North-West Frontier Province, and he shall not hesitate to exercise his special responsibility for securing that the due discharge of his functions in respect of such tribal areas is not prejudiced or impeded by any course of action taken with respect to any other matter

C -MATTERS AFFECTING THE LEGISLATURE

XVIII Our Governor shall not assent in Our name to, but shall reserve for the consideration of Our Governor-General, any bill of any of the classes herein specified, that is to say —

- (a) any Bill the provisions of which would repeal or be repugnant to provisions of any Act of Parliament extending to British India.
- (b) any Bill which in his opinion would, if it became law, so derogate from the powers of the High Court as to endanger the position which that Court is by the said Act designed to fill,
- (c) any Bill which would alter the character of the Per manent Settlement.
- (d) any Bill regarding which he feels doubt whether it does, or does not, offend against the purposes of Chapter III of Part V of the said Act

*XIX If an Agreement is made with His Exalted Highness the Nizam of Hyderabad as aforesaid Our Governor in notifying his assent in Our name to any enactment of the Provincial Legislature shall declare that his assent has been given in

XX It is Our will that the power vested by the said Act in Our Governor to stay proceedings upon a Bill in the Provincial Legislature in the discharge of his special responsibility for the prevention of grave menace to peace and tranquillity shall not be exercised unless, in his judgment, the public discussion of the Bill would itself endanger peace and tranquillity

XXI It is Our will and pleasure that the seats in the Legislative Council to be filled by the nomination of Our Governor shall be so apportioned as in general to redress, so far as may be, inequalities of representation which may have resulted from election, and in particular to secure representation for women and the Scheduled Castes in that Chamber

Questions asked by the Marquess of Salisbury on the position of the States in Federal Finance Scheme of the White Paper, and replies thereto by the Secretary of State for India [16th December 1933]

QUESTIONS BY THE MARQUESS OF SALISBURY

It has been repeatedly stated that the States are not prepared to pay direct taxation until after all other sources of Federal revenue required to meet Federal expenditure have been exhausted, taking into account all possible savings through economy, and until therefore a condition of emergency has arisen. Then and then only will they directly contribute on a prescribed basis. This limitation, however, on direct taxation in the States is not to be held to apply to the Corporation Tax, at any rate in the case of a majority, I think a great majority, of the States. But it should be added, from the White Paper itself, that this tax for the first ten years is to be leviable only from British India. I am sure it will be agreed that it is most important that the Committee should realise the exact effect of the position of the States. I take it to be as follows.

- 1 Except in a state of emergency the States will not undertake to pay anything by way of direct taxation to Federal revenue for the first ten years.
- 2 After ten years they, or at any rate most of them, agree to be assessed to Corporation Tax on an equal footing with British India, though, they reserve to themselves the right to pay an equivalent sum in place of actually levying the Corporation Tax

Certain further questions arise, but they are subsidiary to these two main propositions

- 3. As apparently, if all the Federal units are to bear an equal burder, the Income Tax being not leviable on the States cannot be used for Federal purposes except in an emergency, how is it proposed that the Federal Budget shall be balanced for the first ten years?
- 4. After ten years is it contemplated that the Federal Budget should if necessary be balanced by the Corporation Tax, and is the scope of this tax sufficiently productive and sufficiently equitable to be adequate for this purpose having regard to the unequal distribution of Companies in the different units of the tecleration?
- 5. How is it intended that the prescribed basis on which in an emergency the Income Tax is to be levied from the States should be calculated?
- 6. How is it contemplated that the Assessment of Companies in the States is to be made and verified for the purposes of the CorporationTax?

If the statements in paragraphs 1 and 2 are accurate and the Secretary of State is good enough to answer the questions in the remaining paragraphs, we shall have a clearer idea of the financial position of the States in the proposed Federation.

MEMORANDUM BY THE SECRETARY OF STATE FOR INDIA IN REPLY TO THE ABOVE.

Questions Nos. 1 and 2.—Numbers 1 and 2 of Lord Salisbury's questions correctly state the position, but the following comments may be made by way of further elucidation. First it may be well to recall to the Committee the main heads of revenue at the Centre as given in Sir Malcolm Hailey's note, Record No. 1*. These are repeated for convenience of reference.

These figures give the budget estimate of Central Revenue (net) for 1833-84, and are not, of course, an estimate for the first vear of Federation; but they will serve adequately as an illustration for the purpose of this note

It will be seen that "direct taxation" is in practice equivalent to taxes on income and that these form only a little over one fifth of the total net revenue It also will be remembered that dunno the first ten years to which question No 1 refers, the tributes from the States (about half a million pounds a year) will only be in process of gradual reduction part passu with the remission of in come tax to the Provinces, and that accordingly, there will during this period at least be a contribution from some States otherwise than through "indirect taxation" It may also be well to add a comment on the phrase "state of emergency" in connection with the States' liability to contribute to taxes on income It is true that it is only contemplated that the States should participate in special surcharges on income tax and that these special surcharges are not intended to be used except in times of difficulty when other sources open to the l'ederation have proved insuffi cient + But the use of the term "emergency" must not be held

[†] Sir A Byderi alls in his statement of 7th July the not unreasonable condition that the programme of remissing it came tax to the Provinces should be suspended.

to cover only grave financial crises

I

Question No 3,-It is evident from this question that there is a misconception in the minds of some members of the Com-It is not proposed under the White Paper scheme that, because the States will only contribute to taxes on income through special surcharges (if and when these are imposed) the Federal Government should therefore forego the right to keep any part of the taxes on income raised from British India and should sur render the whole of it to the Provinces The proposals in the White Paper contemplate that a certain percentage of the taxes on income should be permanently assigned to the Federation and the determination of this percentage is left to be fixed subsequently by Order in Council Unless financial conditions change for the better more radically than we have any reason to expect, I doubt whether it will be possible to fix the Federal permanent share of income tax at less than the maximum figure mentioned in the White Paper, viz 50 per cent As regards the balance of taxes on income under the White Paper proposals as they stand the Federation has the power of retaining the whole for three years followed by a process of gradual remission to the Provinces ex tending over the next seven years So that for three years the Federation has the whole Income Tax, and by the end of ten years, the Federation would have half and the Provinces half is a power in the Governor General to hold up this programme and so retain for the time being more for the Centre A point to which the Committee ought in due course to give careful atten tion is whether the most suitable method, in the existing financial conditions is that proposed in the White Paper viz a predeter inined programme with power to suspend or machinery by which the programme is left to be settled at a later date. However that may be it will be plain that it is contemplated that although the States will not be contributing the Federation should retain per manently a large portion of the taxes on income and only remit the remainder to the Provinces produally as financial conditions admit

The implication in question No. 3 is, apparently, that such a proposal is, at all events theoretically, unfair seeing that the Federation uses a source of taxation derived from some of the units only. At the second and third Round Table Conferences there was a good deal of discussion about the "equality of burden" as between the States and British India. The true position, viewed from this aspect, is not very easy to assess. Some of the many factors that have to be taken into consideration are the ollowing.

- (f) Part of the taxes on income are in fact not collected solely from British India Perhaps the most important head of this kind is income-tax deducted at the source on the interest on Government Securities which are widely held in the States as well as in British India
- (11) If certain revenues are provided by British India only, per contra part of the Federal expenditure is only for British India, such as
 - (a) subsidies to deficit provinces other than the N-WFP.:
 - (b) a share of certain pre-Federation pensions,
 - (c) possibly also a share of the service of pre-Federa-

(This is a contentious question on which there has been much argument on one side and the other)

(ii) The States make certain contributions in kind to Defence Expenditure, to which there is no parallel in British India.

The general conclusion which the Government reached, with a considerable measure of assent from the Indian delegates, was that it was very important to get away from any attempt to balance factors of this kind and to bese their proposals for the allocation of resources between the Tederation and Provinces

(and in particular allocation of taxes on income) according to actual financial and economic necessities rather than to attempt to produce theoretical equality of burden between British India and the States. I regard as one of the most important of such necessities an arrangement by which, eventually both Provinces and Federation will have an element of direct taxation (viz taxes on in come) included among their resources.

I do not propose to make any attempt to give a precise estimate as to what would be the percentage of taxes on income drawn solely from British India which the Federation could retain with out violating the principle of equality of burden, but assuming that the percentage retained is fixed as high as 50 per cent there would probably be, in relation to taxes on income, a permanent inequality though not of great magnitude, and during the first 10 years or longer period if the programme of remission to the Province is prolonged there will be a larger inequality. At first sight this may appear unfair to British India but it is impossible in the circumstances of India to proceed straight to an equality of position between the States and British India, when they have been so different in the past

The really important feature of the Federal proposals in the financial field is not the failure to secure from the States their full contribution in relation to direct taxation but the dropping of their claim to a share in customs revenue which, backed to some extent by the Butler Committee was becoming a problem of considerable gravity

Question No. 4—The present yield of the Corporation tax is about £11 millions a year or approximately one tenth of the total yield of taxes on income. No estimate has been made of the possible yield from Companies in the States. The proposal to federalise permanently this head of taxes on income did not in any way flow from the conception that it would be an item which was capable of balancing the I ederal Budget. It is possi ble that it is a tax that may be developed but it is by no means tree from objections and it may well prove that it will not in inture play a much more important part than it does now—the reason why this was singled out for special treatment was that it was the one form of taxes on income (other than special surcharges) in which most of the States at all events showed some disposition to be ready to participate—the advantage to be derived from their participation is really less directly financial than economic since it may help to prevent any future development in the direction of companies establishing themselves in the includence of the tax.

Question No 5 -Since it will not be possible to form any accurate estimate of the income of States subjects which would be assessable to income tax if they were all liable under the British Indian Income Tax law, it is plain that some more or less arbitrary method will have to be employed for calculating the States share of special surcharges when these are imposed No method is altogether free from difficulty The most promising proposal seems to be the following An estimate would be made of the total revenues of each federating State and also of the British India Provinces on as nearly an equal basis as may be possible The sum to be paid by the States as their counterpart to the special surcharges would then be the yield of surcharges in British India multiplied by the ratio of the sum of the States revenues to the sum of the British India Provinces revenues The amount thus determined for the States would be divided among the States units in proportion to their revenues Probably percentages based on a method of this kind could be fixed for a period of five years at a time The duty of revising the percentages in the light of new revenue figures might be laid on the Auditor General

Reference may be made on this question to paragraph 113 of the Report of the Federal Finance Committee presided over by

I

Lord Eustace Percy, in which is discussed the problem of allocation among units of 'emergency contributions' of an analogous though slightly different kind.

Question No 6—Except where a State elects to pay Corporation Tax direct, the Companies in the States would be assessed either by Federal Officers or by States Officers acting on behalf of Federal Officers In those cases where a State prefers that tax should not be paid direct by the Company but by the State, the latter choosing its own form of raising equivalent revenue, the power of assessing the sum to be paid by the State rests with the Federal Government Since the Companies will, under the Federal Company Law, have to produce balance sheets, there will be some material, though no doubt of an inadequate kind, for the Federal Government to make its assessment. No doubt they will proceed by the method, when inadequate statistics are forthcoming, of propounding an assessment and leaving it to the State to produce information to justify a reduction,

*Report of the Select Committee on the Indian States (Protection) Act, XI of 1934

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to protect the Administrations of States in India which are under the suzeranty of His Majesty from activities which tend to subvert, or to excite disaffection towards, or to interfere with such Administrations was presented to the Legislative Assembly on the 14th February, 1934.—

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to protect Administrations of States in India which IV are under the suzerainty of His Majesty from activities which tend to subvert, or to excite disaffection towards, or to interfere with such Administrations, was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto

2 Long title and preamble—The verbal alteration made here is in consequence of the change made in clause 4

Clauses 2 and 3—We are of opinion that the object aimed at by clause 3 of the Bill can more suitably be attained by the creation of a separate offence in this Bill than by an amendment of the Indian Penal Code. This decision renders clause 2 of the Bill unnecessary. We have also provided for the offence now created a penalty somewhat less severe than that imposed by section 121-A of the Indian Penal. Code for the cognate offence when committed in relation to a government in British India.

Clause 4 (re numbered clause 3)—We have met certain criticisms levelled against the provisions of this clause by moring an Explanation saving from the mischief of the new clause of sub-section (1) of section 4 of the Indian Press (Emergence)

Powers) Act, 1931, statements of fact made without evil inten We have also introduced a slight adjustment of section 23 of that Act to meet the circumstances which might arise from the exercise of powers under the Act by the Governor-General in Council at the headquarters of the Central Government in respect of a press situated in a province

Clause 5 (re-numbered clause 4) -We have substituted for the words "movement for the promotion of assemblies" the more explicit expression 'attempts are being made to promote assem blies.' and have replaced the rather vague expression "cause interference with the Administration" by the more definite expres sion "cause obstruction to the Administration" We have also confined the exercise of the powers under this clause in Presi dency-towns to Chief Presidency Magistrates

Clause 6 (re-numbered clause 5) -We have amended this clause in consonance with the decisions reached on clause 5, and have inserted the qualifying words contained in section 144 of the

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898

Clause 7 (re-numbered clause 6) -We have inserted the word "wilfully" to meet certain criticisms received when the Bill was circulated.

MINUTE OF DISSENT

We have signed the Report of the Select Committee subject to the following note -

We agree that the Indian States Administration should be protected from conspiracies formed in British India in order to overawe such administration and from the formation of Jathas or Assemblies of men with the object of marching into a State in order to create trouble there (clauses 3 and 5) Regarding the British Indian Press we are not satisfied that the need has arisen in any way justifying a departure from the normal procedure of a judicial trial and substituting executive action therefor as is progosed in clause 4 of the Bill Our reasons are briefly as under—

- (a) An Act of 1922 known as the Indian States (Prote-tion against Disaffection) Act enacted under the certifying powers of the Governor General makes the law of sedition under section 124 A applicable to writings with reference to a States Administration though we owe no allegiance to the Rulers of such States. That Act therefore fully protects a Prince or a Chief as well as his Administration from malicious attacks.
- (b) We are not satisfied that there is a sufficiently wide spread demand by the States Administrations for drastic and summary action of the kind contemplated
- (e) The provisions of the Indian Press (Emergency Powers)
 Act XXIII of 1931 as amended by the Criminal Law Amendment Act XXIII of 1932 were intended for a grave emergency in British India and even in British India such emergency can no longer be said to exist

(d) We are not satisfied that there has been sufficient experience of the working of the Indian States (Protection against Disaffection) Act, 1922, to enable us to hold that it has really failed in its object as alleged. Nor are we satisfied that objections as to undue delay and publicity which are equally applicable to other trials for similar offences under other penal laws, afford any justification for substituting executive action for the process of Courts. We hold clause 4 should be deleted.

Three of us (Sir Abdur Rahim, Mr. K. C. Neogy and Mr. Patil) are further of the opinion that clause 6 should also be That clause which is apparently based on the lines of section 144, Criminal Procedure Code, we are told is intended mainly to authorise the District Magistrate practically at his discretion to prevent the holding of public meetings to discuss questions of general importance in relation to the Administration of an Indian State. For instance, under this clause, if enforced by notification, it would have been open to the Magistrate at Delhi to prohibit the Conference of the States People which was held here the other day. It is very generally believed that section 144. Criminal Procedure Code, has often been resorted to by the authorities to prevent the holding of bona fide political meetings in British India though that was never the object of section 144 and it would be setting a dangerous precedent for British India itself, if we agreed to the extension of the summary procedure of section 144, Criminal Procedure Code, to bong fide political meetings with reference to the affairs of an Indian State. Further there is no need for such a provision since clause 3 provides against conspiracies to overawe a State Administration and clause 5 would prevent the formation of lathas for the purpose of raiding a State and creating trouble therein. We must also point out that the larguage of clause 6 is dangerously wide. It would indeed
